CAUGHT

BY BALOON'S ANCHOR, WOMAN GOES SKYWARD

Spectator at County Fair Is Made Unwilling Voyager to the Clouds.

IN LIGHTNING DESCENT, SHE IS BADLY INJURED

Ascent Was Being Made by Professional Woman Aeronaut—Other Woman Dangled at Ropes End Until Earth Was Reached.

Kingston, N. Y., August 29.—Caught by the anchor of a balloon and whirled 500 feet in the air over the heads of 5,000 spectators, Mrs. Roper, of Brooklyn, was seriously but not fatally hurt today at the Ulster county fair at Ellenville.

A professional woman aeronaut, who has been making daily ascensions at the fair grounds in a hot-air ballon, had just entered the car this afternoon and was about to give the order to cast off, when the balloon broke loose and sailed upward with the anchor trailing. Before the bystanders could scatter, the anchor fluke caught in the dress of Mrs. Roper and she was whipped up into the air, screaming.

As soon as the woman in the balloon caught sight of her involuntary fellow voyager far below at the end of the rope, she at once pulled the safety cord. The baloon, which by that time had reached an altitude of 500 feet, quickly descended and reached ground a quarter of a mile from the point of ascension. The woman struck the ground heavily, and when picked up was found to be unconscious and to have sustained fractures of the shoulder, ankle and several fingers.

NEGROES WOULD LYNCH ASSAILANT

Young Black Criminally Assaults Little Negro Girl.

Valdosta, Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—Will Clark, a negro about 22 years old, is in the county jail, charged with criminally assaulting a five-year-old negro girl, daughter of William Carswell. The crime was committed last night, but the mother of the child, being a stranger and ignorant of the laws, did not report it until today. The child was terribly mistreated and is in a serious condition. The negroes of the city have been terribly wrought up over the case and there were many open threats of lynching. In consequence Clark was removed from the city prison to the county jail this afternoon. It is believed that the lack of proper leadership is what saved Clark from the fury of his race.

ENGLISH TRADESMEN "EASY" FOR FAKE HARVARD MAN

LONDON, August 29.—A well-dressed young American, posing as a member of the Harvard crew, victimized West End tradesmen out of several hundred pounds sterling during last week. His plan was most simple. Registering at the large hotels under the name of one of the Harvard crew he would go to stores and other clothes and other aticles to be sent to the hotel where he was stopping, asking that the bill be forwarded the next day. In every case the tradesmen fell into the trap, and the articles were sent. But when the collectors went for the money they were informed that the man had left soon after the arrival of the parcel. Gunmakers, tailors and others were among the victims. Apparently merely for bravado the man called on the curate of a fashionable church and spent three hours with him, discussing church affairs. Before leaving he promised to contribute more than $2,000 to various charities.

RAIN'S MIST HID TARGET, CONTEST IS POSTPONED

SEAGIRT, N. J., August 29.—Torrents of rain, falling without intermission, compelled the abandonment of the Wimbledon cup match today after the competitors to the unprecedented number of 267 had lain for hours in pools of water, drenched to the skin and firing almost at haphazard against the misty outlines of the targets on the 1,000-yard range. The range officer in charge notified the executive officer that the targets were practically invisible, but the latter official insisted that the match be continued. Only about one-third of the reflemen consented to return to the firing line, and soon after the executive officer ordered firing to cease.

Congressman J. H. Bankhead, Who Is Leading in the Election for Alternate United States Senator From Alabama.

GEORGIA'S TAX RATE FIXED AT 4.8 MILLS

Rate Is Reduced One-Tenth Mill Below That of Last Year.

EACH $1,000 OF PROPERTY WILL HAVE TO PAY $4.80

Reduction Made Possible by Great Increase in Tax Returns and in Spite of the Increased Appropriations Made by Recent Legislature.

If you own $1,000 worth of property the state will collect just $4.80 from you this year, as against $4.90, which you were required to pay in 1905.

After a conference lasting all the forenoon, Governor Terrell and Comptroller General W. A. Wright yesterday fixed the state tax rate at $4.80 on $1,000, or 4.8 mills per cent. This is 10 cents less on the $1,000 than was fixed last year, and it took hard work to get the figure down.

Of the 4.8 mills on the dollar, 1.7 mills are for school purposes. This will raise $1,000,000. Then .17 mill are for the sinking fund. This will raise $100,000 to pay off bonds maturing next year. Finally 2.93 mills are for general purposes, including pensions.

The legislature, recently adjourned, made additional appropriations of $334,000 available in 1906 and 1907. There was $105,000 appropriated last year and paid out, which is not repeated in this year's appropriations, so that leaves a net additional sum to be raised over last year of $229,000.

It has been ascertained that even at the reduced rate fixed yesterday, which is .20 below the constitutional rate of 5 mills, the increase of more than $46,000,000 in property valuations will net the state about $170,000.

This leaves about $60,000 still to be raised to meet all the state's appropriations and expenses, and the governor and comptroller general count on increased specific taxes to do this. In the same way double that amount was raised last year and it is considered there will be no doubt about the state treasury meeting every obligation at the reduced rate, and without the necessity of borrowing.

Had it not been for the increased appropriations mentioned, the rate would have been considerably lower than 4.80.

SHIP WRECKED; EIGHT PERISH

It was announced that this was done owing to the advance in the price of materials as well as in the wages of all classes of labor.

AMERICAN LAWS "BEHIND TIMES"

Bar Association Hears U. S. Justice Scored.

Roscoe Pound Declares Country's System Is Not Decadent, but Out of Date—Many Lawyers Concur in His Opinion.

St. Paul, August 29.—The feature of the night session of the American Bar association was the utterances of Roscoe Pound, who declared the American system of administering justice was behind the times. His views, in the discussion which followed were generally concurred in.

Mr. Pound said in part:

"Dissatisfaction with the administration of justice is as old as law. Not to go outside of our own legal system, discontent has an ancient and unbroken pedigree. The cause of dissatisfaction with the administration of justice may be grouped under four heads:

"1. Cause for dissatisfaction with any legal system.

"2. Causes lying in the pecularities of our anglo-American legal system.

"3. Causes lying in our American judicial organization and procedure.

"4. Causes lying in the environment of our judicial administration.

"It needs but a superficial acquaintance with literature to show that all legal systems among all peoples have given rise to the same complaints."

Summing up his case in a concluding sentence Mr. Pound said:

"Too much of the current dissatisfaction has a just origin in our judicial organization and procedure. The causes that lie here must be heeded. Our administration of justice is not decadent. It is simply behind the times."

John Sharp Williams Returns.

New York, August 29.—Congressman John Sharp Williams arrived on the White Star liner Majestic, which reached her dock late tonight. He had nothing to say about his trip abroad, and refused to discuss the political situation.

DESPERATE MOB STORMS PRISON

Mobile Citizens Believed Negro Was in Jail.

Officers Fire Blanks at 500 Enraged Men—Disperse After Being Allowed to Search in Vain for Confessed Assailant of Little Girls.

Mobile, Ala., August 29.—Between 10 and 11 o'clock tonight a mob of about 500 persons attempted to take and lynch William Thompson a negro, confessed assailant of two white girls and one little negro girl.

The mob broke into the jail yard through the big wooden gate and filled the yard, the sheriff's deputies met them at the door armed with rifles, which they discharged, with blank cartridges over the heads of the mob, no one being hurt.

A committee of the mob was finally admitted to the jail after which, the assurance being given that the negro was not there, the mob dispersed.

Will Thompson, the negro whom the mob sought to lynch tonight, was taken out of jail ten minutes before the mob arrived, and out on the train for Birmingham.

HATCHET BURIED BY THE SPANISH

United States to Be Among "Favored Nations."

President Roosevelt Issues Proclamation Announcing Reciprocal Tariff Concessions Between the United States and Spain.

Washington, August 29.—The state department tonight made public a proclamation by President Roosevelt declaring and putting into effect on September 1, next, the new agreement as to reciprocal tariff concessions between this government and Spain. Under the agreement, American goods are to pay duty according to Spain's second tariff schedule—the rate accorded favored nations—in return for American concessions in the way of tariff reductions on wines and other Spanish imports into the United States.

Here is the new schedule which the United States will allow Spain to operate:

Upon argots or crude tartar, or wine lees crude, 5 per centum ad valorem. Upon brandies or other spirits manufactured or distilled from grain or other materials, $1.75 per proof gallon. Upon still wines and vermuth in casks, 35 cents per gallon; in bottles or jugs, per case of one dozen bottles or jugs containing each not more than one quart and more than one pint, or twenty-four bottles or jugs containing each not more than one pint $1.25 per case, and any excess beyond these quantities found in such bottles or jugs shall be subject to a duty of 4 cents per pint or fractional part thereof, but no separate or additional duty shall be assessed upon the bottles or jugs. Upon paintings in oil or water colors, pastels, pen-and-ink drawings and statuary, 15 per centum ad valorem.

GIRL SELLER OF SOCKS JAILED

Young Woman in Macon Charged With "Con." Game.

At police court this morning it developed that the Miss Annie Hodges who was removed from the streets yesterday at the request of a popular conductor, it is alleged she was working a confidence game. She came to Macon selling half hose. When she applied for a permit to conduct her business there was amusing comment, but she proceeded and sold goods for several days unmolested.

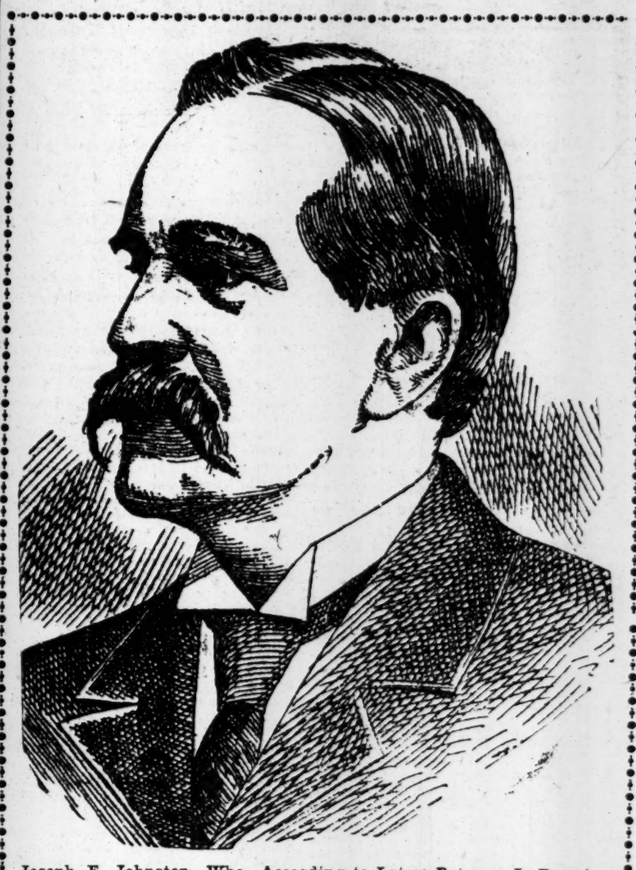

Yesterday she bobbed up again, not selling socks but making demands for money in $25 blocks. When she struck the railway conductor he put up a strenuous kick and the police soon had to interfere. The woman went to the conductor's home and to the homes of other prominent people and openly declared that the heads of the families owed her money.

The end of it all came in her downfall before Recorder Nottingham this morning. There she told a story apparently revealing refinement in the young prisoner, but she talked too much. She was fined $30, and when she would not stop talking she was put further to the bad with a fine of $10 for contempt. She is yet in the city prison, and her case has caused no little comment. Officers who dealt with the case attributed her peculiar conduct to an unbalanced mind, but the woman persists that she is honest. Unless she is paid out she will serve out a sentence.

Fever Cases Are Malarial.

Montgomery, Ala., August 29.—(Special.)—Dr. W. H. Sanders heard of some suspicious cases of fever at Homer, La., but they proved, after an investigation, to be malarial fever.

BRYAN, RETURNING HOME, IS GREETED BY THOUSANDS FROM ALL PARTS OF U. S.

Joseph F. Johnston, Who, According to Latest Returns, Is Running a Close Second to Congressman J. H. Bankhead for Alternate United States Senator From Alabama.

BANKHEAD IS FIRST; JOHNSON LEADING KNOX FOR SECOND

Congressman Certain to Be First Alternate Senator in Alabama--Comer, for Governor, Carries Fifty-Nine of Sixty-Seven Counties.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., August 29.—Further returns from Monday's democratic primary show that B. B. Comer, for governor, carried fifty-nine counties over Lieutenant Governor R. M. Cunningham. Cunningham carried four counties and four others are in doubt.

Comer's unofficial majority to date is 17,733, and will probably be increased to 20,000. In the race for lieutenant governor, Henry B. Gray has carried nineteen counties Emmett O'Neal fourteen and D. J. Meader eight, leaving twenty-six counties to be accounted for. It will probably require the official count to determine this result. Congressman J. H. Bankhead, according to the latest returns, is leading for alternate senator, with former Governor Joseph F. Johnston second and John B. Knox, third. The chief justiceship of the supreme court is close between Chief Justice S. D. Weakley and Associate Justice J. R. Tyson. All the other contests are practically settled.

There will be twenty-three candles in the birthday cake and souvenir cards lettered '23' will be distributed among the twenty-three guests. I am going to have just twenty-three girls present. An orchestra of twenty-three pieces will play behind a bank of twenty-three palms.

GIRLS MAY WED AT 16 18 THE AGE FOR BOYS

Prominent American Lawyers to Make Such Recommendations to "Divorce Congress" Which Meets in Philadelphia in November.

ST. PAUL, MINN., August 29.—When the "divorce congress" meets in Philadelphia, November 12, it will have submitted to it a uniform statute relating to the annulment of marriage and the granting of divorces. The subcommittee of the full committee on resolutions has prepared an act which when revised will probably meet with the approval of the "divorce congress," and later be submitted to congress.

While this question has nothing to do with the American Bar Association, there are so many members of the committee on resolutions of the divorce congress attending the meeting of the association here that a meeting of the subcommittee was held. The full committee will meet Saturday morning, and then the bill will probably be approved for submission to the congress at Philadelphia.

The subcommittee took up the proposed bill section by sections. The most important change made was establishing the age of consent when either male or female may legally enter the marriage relation at 16 years for the female and 18 years for the male.

Article II of the act briefly defines divorce as being of two kinds: Divorce from the bonds of marriage and divorce from bed and board. The subcommittee passed this without change.

COOPER WILL RUN.

Houston, Texas, August 29.—It was stated today on the authority of an active supporter and life-long friend of S. B. Cooper, of Beaumont, who, after being out of congress for two years, has been renominated by the democrats of the second district, a nomination which is equivalent to election, that Mr. Cooper will be a candidate for speaker of the next house of representatiteva.

She was caught between the elevator and the side of the shaft and was carried to the second floor, from where she dropped to the basement.

SHIP CARRYING NEBRASKAN ENCOUNTERED HEAVY STORM

Commoner Suffered Severely From Headache and Indigestion—Greatly Fatigued, but Believes He Will Be Able to Attend All Entertainments.

New York, August 29.—Under gray skies, but in exuberant spirits and bronzed by the suns of many climes during a year of travel, completely around the world, William Jennings Bryan, of Nebraska, twice the nominee of the democratic party for president of the United States, and already indorsed as the candidate of 1908, steamed up New York bay this afternoon on the steamer Prinzess Irene and received a hearty reception from welcoming parties which went down to quarantine to meet the incoming vessel and its distinguished passengers.

Mr. Bryan did not enjoy his usual health during the voyage, but was much better today and said that he felt sure he would be able to carry out the plans made for him during the next few days. He was much fatigued when he boarded the steamer and during the entire voyage suffered from indigestion and severe headache. His illness was not serious enough to interfere with his work, however, and he devoted a large part of the nine days at sea in preparing his speeches and in keeping up his correspondence.

At the Nixon Home.

Mr. Bryan will not land in New York city proper until tomorrow afternoon, when he will be received at the battery by delegations of prominent democrats from all parts of the country and escorted to the hotel, where he will make his headquarters while here. He was taken off the Prinzess Irene by special permission of President Roosevelt, shortly after the vessel had anchored in quarantine. First, he went aboard two tugs which had been chartered by "Bryan's Nebraska home-folks," where he was exultantly greeted and hailed as the next president. He then went aboard the yacht Illini, owned by his friend and schoolmate, Edward Goltra, of St. Louis, and where such well-known democrats as Norman E. Mack, national committeeman from New York, and D. J. Campau, national committeeman from Michigan, were awaiting him. In the Illini Mr. Bryan was taken to the landing of the Ocean Yacht Club at Stapleton, S. I., where he landed and was whirled away in an automobile to the home of Lewis Nixon, on the heights of Tompkinsville.

Silent as to Politics.

Here Mr. Bryan spent the night, the evening being devoted to a conference with intimate personal friends and men of prominence in his party, to learn, it was stated, his wishes regarding the plans which have been made for him for the next few weeks and to acquaint him with affairs at home.

Mr. Bryan was accompanied by his wife and daughter, Miss Grace Bryan. Mrs. Bryan went with him on the Illini and to Mr. Nixon's home. Miss Bryan continued on the steamer and spent the night with friends here. Colonel Moses C. Wetmore, of St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Dunlop and Miss Dunlop, of Jacksonville, Ill., who had been traveling companions of the Bryans the latter part of their tour of Europe, also arrived on the Prinzess Irene.

We are specialists with a high aim. That's why CUESTA REY Cigars have QUALITY which combination goods can never attain.

Mr. Bryan could not be drawn into a discussion of the political questions today.

"What I have to say of politics at this time and with my incomplete knowledge of affairs at home, will be said tomorrow night at the Madison Square Garden reception. Probably then you will find that I shall discuss subjects I have spoken of before."

Mr. Bryan added with twinkling eyes, it was said, that tonight's conference might have some weight regarding the features of tomorrow night's speech, which will be in the nature of a response by Mr. Bryan to the indorsements of state conventions as the next democratic presidential candidate.

Asked pointedly regarding the probability of his candidacy, Mr. Bryan said he had nothing to add to the letter he wrote former Senator J. K. Jones, of Arkansas, in which, he said, he might accept a third nomination under conditions which he named.

Those at Conference.

At tonight's conference at the home of Mr. Nixon were Mayor Johnson, of Cleveland; National Committeeman Campau, of Michigan; Mack, of New York, and Baughman, of Maryland; William Hoge, president of the Commercial Travelers' Anti-Trust League, who discussed the plans for tomorrow night's reception; Alexander Troup, of Connecticut, who explained the programme arranged for Mr. Bryan's welcome to New Haven Friday night; Robert Davis, of Jersey City, who explained the arrangements for the Jersey City welcome Saturday evening; H. W. Walker, of the reception committee for New York; Augustus Thomas and Edward F. Goltra, all these, together with Mrs. Bryan and Mrs. Goltra, were guests of Mr. Nixon at dinner.

Mr. Bryan will spend tomorrow morning opening a vast quantity of mail which was handed him today. He will then board the Goltra yacht, once more to make his formal entry into New York.

Mr. Bryan, surrounded by his fellow passengers, stood well forward on the promenade deck of the Princess Irene as the vessel steamed into Sandy Hook shortly after 2 o'clock this afternoon. He said: "Our travels have been discussed in my letters and as I make a speech on Thursday night, I shall reserve until that time any comments I may have to make upon the political situation. We have had a pleasant journey with enough of storm to vary the monotony, but not enough to injure any one. I am delighted to be back again in my native land. From what I have read in the papers and heard from Americans in Europe, there has been quite a revolution in opinion of economic questions in the United States, and this is, of course, gratifying. On the presidential question I do not care to add anything to the interviews which I gave in London and the letter written by me to former Senator Jones."

Hopes for Victory.

Asked regarding his opinion as to the chances for a democratic victory two years hence, Mr. Bryan said:

"I always assume that the chances of democratic success are improving. I believe that the people are coming to recognize that the democratic ideas are the ideas of the people. It is not easy to fix definitely when these ideas will triumph, but I believe that there is always a forward movement toward that triumph."

"Do you think the republican administration has been such as to increase these chances?"

"I cannot discuss that question at present, but I do think the present administration has done much to educate the people to make them see the value of democratic ideas."

The scene down the bay as the Prinzess Irene came to anchor in quarantine established a precedent as a celebration of home-coming of a plain American citizen.

Mr. Bryan's home folks were the most enthusiastic of all. On two big tug boats, which journeyed down the bay side by side, they went to welcome their distinguished neighbor. With tumultuous cheers they pulled up alongside the after gangway of the big steamer and called their greetings to Mr. Bryan, who stood on the deck just above them and smiled and waved his hat.

Flowers for Mrs. Bryan.

Big boxes of flowers were tossed on board for Mrs. Bryan. Then the Nebraska state flag was flung to the breeze and the cheering was renewed. Songs were sung and the cheering was taken up time and again while Mr. Bryan was going through the necessary formalities of the customs inspection laws. Two inspectors and an assistant appraiser had gone down on the Illini under special instructions and had been put aboard to take Mr. Bryan's declaration and make the usual examination of hand baggage and trunks.

When the baggage had all been passed and Mr. Bryan was ready to descend to the Nesbraskans' tug, there was another outburst of enthusiasm, which was taken up with a will, this time but those on the crowded decks of the Prinzess Irene.

As he set foot upon the tug Mr. Bryan was fairly mobbed by the Nebraskans, who had as guests many democrats from other sections of the country.

Flags were dipping everywhere and from the shores small craft put out in multiplying numbers.

Mr. Bryan was called upon for a speech by the Nebraskans, but he only told them in a purely personal vein how happy he was to be home again.

After being on the tug more than half an hour, Mr. and Mrs. Bryan were transferred to the Illini and taken to the landing, where they went ashore to spend the night at the home of Mr. Nixon.

TRAGIC DEATH FOR GEORGIAN

Riddled With Bullets by Farmer and Negro Hands.

Columbus, Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—Ben Jack Moore, a former Georgian, who was for years a resident of Columbus, and an engineer on the Central of Georgia railway, met death in tragic and terrible manner in Mississippi several days ago. His remains were brought home and buried at Cataula, Ga., yesterday afternoon.

Moore had become a prosperous farmer in Mississippi, where he located two years ago. Sunday morning he went to the home of a neighbor to see him regarding one of his (Moore's) hands that he had employed. While there he noticed one of his fine dogs chained to the house. Moore had some fine canines in which he took much interest, and to which he was greatly attached. He spoke to his neighbor about keeping his dogs, and this brought on a quarrel, the climax of which was a tragedy. The farmer, his three brothers and a negro hand all began firing on Moore, and he was riddled with bullets, and instantly killed. His body was so mutilated with bullet holes that when he was brought to Georgia his friends were not allowed to see his remains. The assailants were arrested, but it seems were discharged at the preliminary hearing.

COUPLE IN JAIL ON TWO CHARGES

Insulted Dignity of Court, Then Kidnapped a Child.

Savannah, Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—Charles Hutchinson and wife are in jail for contempt of Ordinary Henry McAlpin's court and also for attempted kidnaping of Mrs. Hutchinson's 2-year-old daughter by a former marriage, which had been placed in care of the family of her divorced husband.

The couple had appeared before Judge McAlpin yesterday and demanded the custody of the child. They were informed that the court saw no reason why it should revoke its order. Hutchinson defiantly informed the court that they would take the child any way. Thereupon he was warned that such an attempt would cause trouble. It was made, nevertheless, and the trouble has resulted.

Fitzgerald, is dead, Henry Peake, Louis Weaver, W. H. Norris and J. T. Cross are dangerously ill and Frank Grundy, who tasted the confectionery, is also ill. Fitzgerald, a boy of 19 years, was held on a charge burglary. An examination of the candy, after Fitzgerald's death, showed that it had been sprinkled with strychnine. The following inscription was written on the box:

"How are you pal?"

TILLMAN GETS SEVERE BLOW

One-Third of South Carolina Voters Scratched Him.

Senator Tillman was scratched about 30 per cent, although without opposition.

The legislature is in doubt, the house being largely anti-dispensary. All congressmen have been nominated for re-election. J. T. Johnson, J. O. Patterson, W. Wyatt Aiken and D. E. Finley were the only congressmen with formal opposition.

Macon Bar Puts Out Its Candidate.

Candidacy Put Into Hands of Committee of Prominent Attorneys, Who Will See That Bibb's Candidate Is Given Consideration.

Congressman Bartlett, Marion Harris, Felton Hatcher and others also spoke in terms of highest praise and within less than thirty minutes plans were made for an active campaign in the interest of Mr. Jones.

Newsome Dies From Wounds.

John Newsome, one of the two men injured in the Bridge Row fight of Monday afternoon, expired at the city hospital at an early hour this morning. He made a statement, and this, together with a coroner's investigation, has resulted in a charge of murder against Joe and Bunk Curtis. While Joe Curtis is now hovering in the very shadow of death, Albert Wilson is detained at police station under evidence brought out in the inquest, which will also cause a charge of murder against him in the event Curtis dies.

Jeff Hillhouse Will Hang.

The steps taken for appeal will be withdrawn and no further effort will be made to save him. It took only a short time for a jury to reach a conclusion of guilt and Attorney Duncan, of Perry, who represented the negro, will not fight further for the negro's life.

IS A DISGRACE TO SAVANNAH

So Says Investigation Committee of Police Department.

Savannah, Ga., August 29.—(Special.) The city council this afternoon received the report of the committee on police, which has been making an investigation of the department, and council decided to hold a meeting within the next week to take up the report. The department is most severely censured by the committee, and its complete reorganization is asked for. Many things were found by the committee which it pronounced a disgrace to the city. Among those given the attention of the committee was Superintendent Charles Garfunkel, who is criticised for playing cards with members of the force and for not wearing his uniform. He is also charged with not making inspection of the force while it is on duty and with failure to maintain proper discipline. Clerk Robert Haym is criticised for having used improper language to Alderman W. L. Grayson and an apology is called for. Superintendent Garfunkel returned today from New York, after a day's stay in that city. He had intended staying three weeks, but reports of wholesale robberies committed by the Ocean Steam Ship Company's police force reached him and he returned at once.

MAY BUILD WATERWORKS.

Adairsville, Ga., Will Have a Bond Election.

Adairsville, Ga., August 29.—(Special.) The citizens of the town are very much interested in the coming bond election which is set for September 8.

The city council have been for months investigating, working, planning and calculating about a water works system. The plans and specifications have been made, and everything is ready for the election.

The town has over $325,000 taxable property, does not owe a cent and never has. The council have contracts in sight to guarantee that a levy of one-half of one per cent tax will pay for the $17,500 system and have a balance in the treasury each year.

It has seldom been that a small town like ours could do this.

The water is to be brought one mile, and is as fine as nature brews.

There seems to be no doubt of bonds carrying at the coming election.

GOOD NIGHT'S SLEEP

No Medicine So Beneficial to Brain and Nerves.

Lying awake nights makes it hard to keep awake and do things in day time. To take "tonics and stimulants" under such circumstances is like setting the house on fire to see if you can put it out.

The right kind of food promotes refreshing sleep at night and a wide awake individual during the day.

A lady changed from her old way of eating, to Grape-Nuts, and says:

"For about three years I had been a great sufferer from indigestion. After trying several kinds of medicine, the doctor would ask me to drop off potatoes, then meat, and so on, but in a few days that craving, gnawing feeling would start up, and I would vomit everything I ate and drank.

"When I started on Grape-Nuts, vomiting stopped, and the bloating feeling which was so distressing disappeared entirely.

"My mother was very much bothered with diarrhea before commencing the Grape-Nuts, because her stomach was so weak she could not digest her food. Since using Grape-Nuts she is well, and says she don't think she could live without it.

"It is a great brain restorer and nerve builder, for I can sleep as sound and undisturbed after a supper of Grape-Nuts as in the old days when I could not realize what they meant by a "bad stomach." There is no medicine so beneficial to nerves and brain as a good night's sleep, such as you can enjoy after eating Grape-Nuts."

28 TOTS MADE ORPHANS BY RUSSIAN SOLDIERS ARE ALLOWED TO LAND

WASHINGTON, August 29.—"Land Sarah Perlman, aged 34, and twenty-eight children."

This was the text of a laconic telegram which was sent last evening by Acting Secretary Lawrence O. Murray, of the department of commerce and labor to Acting Immigration Commissioner Murray, at New York. On the face of it, the telegram was peculiar particularly, as Sarah Perlman has the prefex "Miss" attached to her name.

The dispatch had reference to twenty-eight Jewish children who have been brought to this country from Russia to, be given homes by the United Hebrew Socities. Their parents in each case had been killed in the massacre of Jews at Kishinef. They were unable to support themselves in Russia and the Jews of Russia made an appeal to the Jews of the world to care for the orphans. The United Hebrew Societies of New York agreed to take care of 100 of the orphans provided they could be landed in this country under the immigration laws.

Several days ago Miss Sarah Perlman arrived at Ellis Island in charge of thirty of the children, some as young as five years of age. The board of immigration was obliged to recommend their deporation as paupers. The case was brought to Washington on appeal. It was shown that every one of the children would be given a good home and none of them would become a public care. On these statements the children were admitted to the country. Advices were received at the immigration bureau here today that the orphans were landed last night and that after a supper at the Ellis Island imigration station, each one was presented with an American flag and turned over to the caretakers.

MINISTERS DENOUNCE CRIME.

Union of the A. M. E. Church Indorses Plan to Abolish the Negro Dives.

The Minister's Union of the African Methodist church passed the following resolutions yesterday, declaring that the vagrants, criminals and law breakers have no place among them, favoring the plan to abolish the negro dives, and pledging the aid of the union in the arrest of criminals.

The times call for an expression of all good citizens at this crisis, therefore, the ministerial union of the African Methodist church, at its session, August 25, 1906, appointed a committee to formulate and make this declaration:

Whereas, we, the committee of the Ministerial union of the African Methodist church, appointed to make an expression of our position, do most sincerely regret and deplore the fact that within the last few weeks several fiendish and brutal crimes have been committed, causing intense excitement and agitation, and we view and read with much concern and solicitude, the various editorials and comments upon the penalties, punishments and remedies for crimes of so serious nature.

Therefore be it resolved, that we, as ministers, are no less faithful to our calling than in former days. As ministers and teachers we make these declarations, notwithstanding one of our member, Rev. J. A. Davis, has published statements to the contrary. His publication in the daily paper last Monday morning was but the expression of the morbidity of a diseased mind; and we denounce the same as false in toto, for we are ready to cooperate with all good citizens in the interest of law, order, morality and holiness; and excommunicate all members who do not live up to the creed and moral code, under which they join our churches.

Be it further resolved, that all lawlessness, peace disturbers and perpetrators of crime, shall have no place among us; and we solicit the cooperation of those who would bring to justice any and all criminals who commit serious and vicious crimes, but we go still further and will assist as far as we have power in arresting all criminals. We are sorry but power is so limited, as we have no police authority, to run down and capture the guilty; but if we were commissioned we would be willing to be branded for dereliction of duty when these criminals escaped; but our office is moral suasion, and many of this class cannot be reached, as they never visit our places of worship.

Resolved, further, that we do not agree with any newspaper that charges we harbor, protect or spirit away any guilty persons. But we do most heartily concur with those who would break up all dives and dens of vice, which are crime breeders; while such places fatten the coffers of the city, and supply men for the stockades, yet we believe that a discontinuance of such places would lessen crime and reduce the necessity for the funds they produce.

Therefore, be it further resolved, that we beg cooperation of all good citizens to bring about a better condition, and that a better feeling by putting down crime of every description, for we all know that good cannot come out of evil. We declare that it is unjust to the community to influence the public mind. Therefore we preach, peace, fraternity and patience knowing that we are in the midst of a people who are tolerant and Christian, and are willing to assist the weak in ridding themselves of these conditions and this chaos of criminals.

Resolved further, that we call upon our people to be sober, industrious and economical, and the ministry to preach and practice that patience, which characterized Job; and the newspapers to back moderation, for nothing is gained member of the body politic suffer by putting the employer and employees against each other, you cannot make a wrongfully without affecting the whole body in some degree. The two races are here to live side by side and grow in fraternal relations, and he who would teach otherwise is an enemy to the state and nation.

Resolved further, that the negro having always stood ready to defend the country from its enemies from without, is now ready to defend the home from the foes within, for there are those among us who are not of us; and they cannot expect our sympathy nor protection.

Resolved further, the daily papers are asked to publish these declarations, that vagrants, criminals and lawbreakers have no place among us and need expect no protection. Respectfully,

SURGICAL OPERATIONS PREVENTED BY PE-RU-NA.

MRS. MATTIE KLINE, 363 E. Couch street, Portland, Ore., writes:

"Some time ago my health seemed to give way. The doctor said that I had ovarian trouble and general weakness. I had severe pains in the back and shoulders, while my stomach was so upset that my food nauseated me. My physician said that I ought to be operated upon, but I strongly objected to it, and one of my friends advised me try Peruna.

Operation Advocated.

"I am pleased to say that this medicine saved me from a painful operation and restored me to perfect health and strength in a little over three months. I am very much pleased with the good your medicine has done me, and I trust that many suffering women may be benefited through the use of Peruna."

PRISON GUARD KILLS CONVICT TO SAVE LIFE

United States Prisoner Was Serving Sentence For Train Robbery.

GUARD SHOT FIRST TIME TO FRIGHTEN ASSAILANT

Then Officer Fry Was Forced to Shoot to Kill—His Victim, Ed Richmond, Was Considered Bad Man at the Federal Prison.

Officer Pet Fry, a guard at the United States penitentiary in South Atlanta, shot and killed convict Ed Richmond Tuesday afternoon, to save his own life from being ended by the sudden assault of the prisoner. According to the story told by the guard, Richmond, who is serving a ten-year sentence for train robbery, and is looked upon as a bad man, Tuesday afternoon started worrying the officer while engaged at work in the stone shed. After going to one end of the shed so often, the guard decided to follow him there.

This was evidently just what the prisoner wanted. Once Officer Fry had followed him to a point some distance from the nearest guard, the convict turned and with curses made an attempt to strike the officer. Guard Fry ordered him back, and used his heavy stick to defend himself from the other's blows. Seizing this stick, the convict made a desperate attempt to wrench the stick away for his own use. Then it was that Officer Fry fired, first intending to only wound the prisoner. The bullet lodged in the prisoner's hand, but seemed to only infuriate him the more, and then the guard fired again, and his assailant dropped dead, the bullet entering just above the heart.

According to Officer Fry, Richmond has threatened him again and again. Sentenced from Indian Territory, Richmond arrived in Atlanta in February, 1902. Since that time he has won the reputation of being a bad and desperate prisoner, and has been punished a number of times. Officer Fry, while but two years in the Atlanta prison, came here after seven years as guard at the Tennessee state penitentiary. He is considered one of the coolest and ablest guards at the institution. Warden Moyer has wired Richmond's relatives in the Territory, asking if they want his body shipped there. Otherwise, he will be buried in the little cemetery on the Atlanta reservation.

HIPPLE'S FALL SURPRISES MANY

Philadelphia Financier Was Model Churchman.

Friends Declare His Actions Make World Lose Faith in Human Nature—He Was Practically His Church's Bank—Official's Death Being Probed.

Philadelphia, August 29.—So great was the confidence reposed in Frank K. Hipple, late president of the Real Estate Trust Company, which was yesterday forced to the wall because of the secret business transactions of Mr. Hipple, he was virtually the bank of the Presbyterian church.

Not only the general assembly, which was a large depositor, but even the smallest Sunday school organizations and hundreds of individuals with abiding faith in the integrity of the late president, had entrusted their funds and savings to the institution. "It almost destroys a person's faith in human nature," said H. P. Ford, private secretary to Dr. Alexander Henry, secretary of the board of publication and Sunday school work of the Presbyterian church.

"As treasurer of the trustees of the general assembly, Mr. Hipple had control of over $1,000,000 and as treasurer of the permanent committee on home missions and sustentation in the synod of Pennsylvania and Presbyterian hospital of this city, other large amounts were at his command."

Since the failure of the trust company it has been learned that only a few months ago the institution was under consideration as possible depository for the foreign missionary funds of the Presbyterian church. The influence of Mr. Hipple, it is said, might have eventually prevailed.

The annual contributions to foreign missions amount to over $1,100,000, and its surplus on hand always equals half that amount.

DEATH TAKES W. R. DIMMOCK

He Had Been Ill For Short Time With Meningitis.

Hon. William R. Dimmock, secretary to the board of water commissioners, one of the most widely known citizens of the Gate City, and a resident of Atlanta for more than half the fifty odd years of his life, died yesterday morning at his home on Jackson street, after a short illness, meningitis being the cause of his death.

A native of England, born in the early '50's, Mr. Dimmock passed the greater part of his life in Atlanta, whither he came with his parents.

In the days of his youth he mastered the technical features of machinery, and for a long time he was in charge of sections of the Winship machine works, on Foundry street, one of the largest industries during its life in the south. He quit the Winships in the latter '80's to assume control of the street lights of the city. A few months later he was selected for a position in the city marshal's office, where he remained until the early '90's, when he was elected clerk to the board of water commissioners, and there he has remained, making one of the best and most efficient of Atlanta's many officers.

Mr. Dimmock was, next to his family and his official work, devoted to his secret societies. He was a Mason, a Knight of Pythias, and an Odd Fellow, and in each of these organizations he was ranked high up. Pythianism received his study and attention, and as a Knight of Khorassan he was a recognized leader. With a fondness for military work, Mr. Dimmock became a member of the Governor's Horse Guard in the early life of that now famous military organization. From the ranks he came into a commission, and in his death that far-famed cavalry company finds a vacancy in a lieutenancy. The commission for a lieutenancy in the company reached Mr. Dimmock direct from Governor Terrell only a month ago.

Mr. Dimmock leaves a wife, a daughter, and a son. Mrs. May Williamson, of Houston, Texas, wife of one of the most prominent and successful merchants of that Lone Star state, and Avary Miller Dimmock, 13 years of age, are the children. Mrs. Williamson was Mr. Dimmock's step daughter, but so great was his devotion to her that no one but those knowing it could even appreciate the fact that she was not his daughter.

Mrs. Dimmock was visiting her daughter, Mrs. Williamson, in Houston, Texas, when Mr. Dimmock was taken ill. A telegram brought wife and daughter to Atlanta on the next train. They arrived in time to be at the bedside when the end came.

Mr. Dimmock was a member of the Methodist church, and at the Grace church the funeral exercises will be conducted this afternoon at 3 o'clock. The pallbearers selected are: Hon. Park Woodward, superintendent of the water works; J. W. Kilpatrick, J. H. Ewing, Hon. W. J. Campbell, city clerk; W. R. Carroff, W. A. Albright, E. F. Morgan, and T. A. Florence. The exercises will be conducted by the Gate City lodge.

At 2 o'clock the city hall offices will be closed for the afternoon during the funeral and burial services.

Acting Mayor J. H. Harwell has issued the following proclamation touching Mr. Dimmock's death:

"The death of Hon. W. R. Dimmock, secretary of the water works department, loses to the city of Atlanta one of its most valuable and efficient officers. He served Atlanta well and faithfully, with credit to himself and with inestimable value to Atlanta as a member of council, as an alderman and as secretary of the water works department, in which last position he gave the best years of his life, his best thought and his best energy in serving the interests of the city.

"City hall offices will be closed tomorrow, August 30 1906, between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock in the afternoon, when his funeral will be in progress, and city officers are expected to refrain from transacting business that is not absolutely necessary for the public good.

"The flag of the city will be placed at half-mast on tomorrow, the day of the funeral.

"By order of his honor,
"ACTING MAYOR J. H. HARWELL.

JIM CROW LAW FOR SAVANNAH

Alderman Introduces Ordinance To Separate Colors in Cars.

Savannah, Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—Alderman Stewart introduced at this afternoon's meeting of council an ordinance providing for the separation of the races on street cars in the city. The ordinance makes it the duty of the police officers of the city to make cases against and to prosecute in the state courts passengers violating the provisions of the state law, which requires the separation of the races. The ordinance makes it the duty of conductors to assign passengers to seats so as to separate the white and colored passengers as much as practicable, while the cars are within the jurisdictional limits for police purposes of the city of Savannah. Any conductor failing to assign passengers to seats according to the terms of this ordinance is made liable to a fine not exceeding $100 or imprisonment not exceeding thirty days, or both, in the discretion of the court. There is little doubt but that the ordinance will be passed by council.

LAW-BREAKING NEGROES WORST MENACE TO RACE

Booker Washington in Address to Business League Says South Is Best Place For Blacks Who Will Work.

THAT the worst enemies of the negro race are those negroes who commit crimes, which are followed by lynching, and that the south is after all the best place for black men who are willing to work, was the keynote of the address of Booker T. Washington to the National Negro Business League last night. He said in part:

"It is well that the National Negro Business League holds this session right here in the heart of the south where the great body of our people live, and where their salvation is to be worked out. This organization does not undertake to concern itself with all the interests of the race, for there are other organizations that deal with the political, religious and educational interests of our people.

"From the first, and I hope this meeting will prove no exception, the National Negro Business League has steadfastly held to the policy of stimulating the activicities of our people in the direction of agriculture, industrial and business enterprises. It is the policy of this organization to hold up before the race its advantages, rather than its disvantages, its successes, rather than its failures; to call the attention of the world to the efforts of our friends, rather than to those of our enemies.

"We believe that while the world may pity a crying, whining race, it seldom respects it. In a word, the National Negro Business League, while not overlooking or justifying injustice or wrong or failing to recognize the value of other methods seeking to reach the same end, feels that the race can make progress and secure the greatest protection by its efforts in progressive, constructive directions, by constantly presenting to the world tangible and visible evidences of our worth as a race. We believe that the influence of one great success in really accomplishing something that the world respects will go furthest in promoting our interests. Let constructive progress be the deminant note among us in every section of America. An inch of progress is worth more than a yard of fault-finding. The races that have grown strong and useful have not done so by depending upon finding fault with others, but by presenting to the world evidences of the progress in agriculture, industrial and business life, as well as through religious, educational and civic growth.

South Best for the Negro.

"Right here in Georgia we have abundant evidence that the negro, in spite of difficulties, is learning this lesson at a rapid rate. It is safe to say that the negro in Georgia owns at least $20,000,000 worth of taxable property, and that our people in other sections of the south have made almost equal progress. Within the past year I have inspected and studied the conditions and progress of our people in the northern and western states as I have never done before, and I have no hesitation in reaffirming my former opinion that the southern states offer the best permanent abode for the masses of our people. While many individuals may find prosperity outside of the south, and have the right to make the effort, yet laying the foundation for growth in life essentials, which this organization seeks first of all to promote, I know no section of this country where our people are making more progress, and where the future is more full of promise than right here in the south. In thus expressing myself, I do not overlook the fact that we have a large number of negroes in the north and west whose success is in the highest degree creditable, nor do I overlook those things in the south, which often discourage many of our people.

"In connection with our future here in the south I do not share the fear that immigration will retard or prevent our progress. The millions of unoccupied and unused acres in the south have yet to be used by someone, and the present scarcity of all forms of labor upon which business prosperity in a large measure rests, cannot always remain unsatisfied. A few thousand, strong, sturdy, thrifty foreigners in each county will go far toward quickening our energy and sharpening our wits, by bringing their healthy competition, which is very much needed in many sections of the south. Our salvation is to be found not in our ability to keep another race out of territory, but in our learning to get as much out of the soil, out of the occupations, or business, as any other race can get out of theirs.

"The more I study our conditions and needs, the more I am convinced that there is no surer road by which we can reach civic, moral, educational, and religious development than by laying the foundation in the ownership and cultivation of the soil, the saving of money, commercial growth, and the skillful, conscientious performance of any duty with which we are entrusted. This policy does not mean the limiting or circumscriping of the activities or ambitions of the race. Progress through this method means the exercise of patience, faith, courage and eternal vigilance; but there is no escape from it. It is the road that all nations have traveled, which have gotten upon their feet.

"There is much that the brave, intelligent, patriotic white men of America can do for us; there is much that we can do for ourselves. The executive authorities should see to it that every law is enforced, regardless of race or color, that the weak and [illegible] against injustice from the strong. We have examples in several southern states that this is being done in an encouraging degree. Without this encouragement and protection of the law it is not possible for the negro to succeed as a laborer, or in any line of business.

Duty of the Negro.

"On the negro's part we have a duty. Our leaders should see to it that the criminal negro is gotten rid of whenever possible. Making all allowances for mistakes, injustice and the influence of trivial prejudice, I have no hesitation in saying that one of the elements in our present situation that give me most concern is the large number of crimes that are being committed by members of our race. The negro is committing too much crime north and south. We should see to it, as far as our influence extends, that crimes are fewer in number ,otherwise the race will permamently suffer. The crime of lynching everywhere and at all times should be condemned, and those who commit crimes of any nature should be condemned. Our southland today has no greater enemy to business progress than lynchers and those who provoke lynching.

"In this same connection let us bear in mind that every man, white or black, who takes the law into his hands to lynch or burn or shoot human beings supposed to be, or guilty of crime is insulting the executive, judicial and lawmaking bodies of the state in which he resides. Lawlessness in one direction will inevitably lead to lawlessness in other directions. This is the experience of the whole civilized world.

"In this connection let us consider the classes of negroes that do not commit crime and are seldom charged with crime. They are those who own homes, who are tax-payers, who have a trade or other regular occupation; they are those who are in professional service; those who have received education, and such business men and women as those who compose this organization.

"I think I would be safe in saying that no graduate of Clark University, Atlanta Baptist College, Atlanta University, Morris Brown College or Spelman Seminary has been arrested for any crime in Atlanta during the last twelve months.

"In this we have a strong, practical demonstration right here at home in favor of education of the classes of our citizenship. Ignorance will always mean crime, and crime will mean an unwieldly burden fastened about the neck of the south. The only safety for both races is in the direction of education, industry and high character.

"I have named the classes that do not commit crime. Which is the class that is guilty, as a rule, of criminal action? They are the loafers, the drunkards and gamblers, men for the main part without permanent employment, who own no homes, who have no bank account, who glide from one community to another without interest in any one spot. One of the practical courses that men such as those who compose this business league ,our leaders in the pulpit and every sphere of life, should pursue is to try to get hold of the floating class of our people and see to it that their lives are so changed as to make them cease to disgrace our race and disturb our civilization. We cannot be too frank or too strong in discussing the harm that the committing of crime is doing to our race. Let us stand up straight and speak out and act in no uncertain terms in this direction. Let us do our part, and then let us call upon the whites to do their part.

"Let us never grow discouraged as a race. Right here in the south there are more things upon which the races agree, than upon which they disagree. Let us not be so much absorbed in our grievances that we fail to remember our successes and opportunities.

"In the southern states the negro has organized and is now conducting thirty-three banks. He has in the United States over one hundred drug stores. Almost every town and city in the south has its negro grocery store and other places of business. There is practically no section of the south where the negro farmer, mechanic, merchant and banker cannot find encouragement, opportunity and prosperity. In this respect let us not overlook the fact that many similar opportunities are at our door.

"At a very conservative figure the negro is now paying taxes upon over $300,000,000 worth of property—and I suppose the negro imitates other races in in not always paying taxes upon all lof his belongings.

"What we have accomplished in the past, in the face of many difficulties is a guarantee of what we can attain to in the future.

"Finally, let us cultivate a spirit of racial pride. Let us learn to be as proud of our race as the Frenchman, German, the Japanese, or the Italian is of his. The race that has faith and pride in itself will eventually win the respect, the confidence and cooperation of the rest of the world."

LEAGUE BEGINS ANNUAL SESSION

Booker Washington Made an Address at Evening Meeting.

About 1,000 People Were Present at the Morning Session, and the Attendance Was Even Larger in the Evening.

The National Negro Business League began its seventh annual session at 10 o'clock yesterday morning in the auditorium of the Bethel M. E. church. W. B. Matthews, the president of the Atlanta Negro Business League, called the meeting to order, opening the session with a speech, and then introducing Rev. E. R. Carter, who invoked a blessing upon the proceedings.

Mayor J. G. Woodward was to have delivered the address of welcome, but was out of the city, and Acting Mayor J. H. Harwell made this address, and this was followed by a talk by Sam D. Jones in behalf of the chamber of commerce. Rev. I. N. Ross, pastor of the Bethel church, made a few remarks of welcome to the delegates in behalf of the local league and the negro citizens of Atlanta. These addresses were responded to by A. N. Johnson, of Mobile, and J. Madison Vance, of New Orleans.

After these preliminary speeches the real business of the meeting was discussed and the first paper was by W. L. Pollard, of Washington, D. C. The subject of discussion was insurance and real estate, and the matter of insurance was taken up by W. T. Andrews, of Sumter, S. C., who described in detail the difficulties of a colored canvasser in soliciting insurance from colored men. Philip Payton, Jr., the head of the Afro-American Realty Company, of New York, and Richard T. Greener, former consul at Vlaivostok, Manchuria, also spoke on the insurance subject.

Henry T. Platt, of Baltimore, discussed the affairs of negroes in the steam laundry business, and at the conclusion Booker T. Washington asked for like reports from other cities, and it came out that there were many laundries in different places controled by negroes.

Building and contracting was taken up next, R. F. Walker, of Macon, and James L. Wallace, a negro labor leader of New York, giving their views on the subject. Unions were discussed pro and con.

The final speaker of the session was John J. Winston, a plaster contractor of New Orleans, who gave the story of his experience in that particular line of business.

The session adjourned at 2 o'clock to meet again last night. The addresses of Captain James W. English, president of the Fourth National bank, and Booker T. Washington were the most notable of the night session.

About one thousand were present at the Wednesday morning session, and a great many more were in attendance last night, fully five or six hundred of this number being delegates.

SEVENTY-SEVEN PATRIOTS WILLING TO SERVE COUNTY

ALL kinds and conditions of white men flocked to the office of Henry M. Wood, clerk to the board of county commissioners, when it was learned through yesterday's Constitution that application blanks were in readiness for applicants for election to the county police force.

There were tall men, short men, lean men and fat men. Some of them deputized Mr. Wood's 12-year-old son as secretary to fill out their application blanks, while others mopped their perspiring brows as they penned answers to the questions propounded in the application blank.

Twenty-four men are to be added to the force when the board meets next Wednesday, and the prospect is that fully 200 applicants will have filed applications by that time. Seventy-seven men had filed applications up to the closing hour of the office yesterday afternoon, and many called during the day and took application blanks off with them for the purpose of filling them out.

The words in the application blank, "I am sober, and in no manner addicted to the use of intoxicants," seems by some of the applicants to be construed as applying to the applicant's condition at the time of signing the application. One applicant, on whose nose the rum blossoms were in full bloom, nodded with satisfaction as he perused that paragraph of the application and found his hand steady enough to affix his signature.

"I have had six years' experience in looking out for number one," wrote another, who evidently believes that this qualifies him to look out for the safety of numbers two, three, etc.

The county policemen receive $75 per month, and are required to furnish and feed their own horses and to supply their own equipment. Married men who engage in the service after the establishment of the three camps outside of the city will have their living expenses increased, as they will have to bear their proportion of the expenses of mess in camp as well as to keep up their homes.

Commissioner E. V. Carter, chairman of the roads and bridges committee, which was delegated to inquire into and make the preliminary arrangements for the establishment of the three camps, stated yesterday afternoon that the committee had not held a meeting owing to the absence of Judge Palmer from the city. As soon as he returns, the committee will hold a session and will, after investigation and discussion, select sites for the camps, estimate cost of same, etc. Judge Rosser is the third member of this committee.

In the meantime, Mr. Carter has been making inquiries and informing himself as to the desirability and advantages of certain locations recommended as sites for the establishment of the camps.

CORN AND COTTON CONTEST IS PROVING VERY POPULAR

ONE of the most interesting of the new features of the coming state fair is the corn and cotton contest inaugurated by the state university in cooperation with the State Agricultural Society and the county boards of education.

The Constitution called attention last winter to this contest.

Professor Stewart, who has had this contest in hand, reports that over eight hundred boys have entered from different counties of the state, according to reports of the county school commissioners, who have charge of the contests in their respective counties. Each boy in the contest must cultivate at least one-sixteenth of an acre in the crop he plants. He must fill out the following record blank if the contest is in corn, and present the same with the ten ears of corn exhibited.

Record Blank.

(1) Area of field. (2) Character of soil as clay, sand, loam, etc. (3) What crops were grown on the field in 1903, 1904, 1905? (4) What amounts and kinds of manure were used on this field? (5) When was field plowed? (6) Depth of plowing. (7) How was ground prepared for corn? (a) Number of times and dates disced? (b) Number of times and dates harrowed? (c) Number of times and dates dragged or rolled, etc.? (8) Date of planting? (a) Variety of corn? (9) Distance apart of rows? (10) Distance apart of hills in row? (11) Kind of cultivator used? (12) Depth of cultivation? (13) Time of cultivation—first, second, third, fourth. Additional cultivation. Rule out all exhibits without this record blank properly filled.

Approved.

.....County School Commissioner.

The prizes in corn will be awarded by the following score card adopted by the Missouri Corn Growers' Association.

Uniformity of exhibit, 10; maturity and market condition, 15; shape of ear, 10; color, (a) kernels 5; (b) cob 5; butts, 10; tips, 5; shape of kernel, 10; proportion of circumference to length, 10; space between kernels, 5; proportion of corn to ear, 15; total, 100.

The state fair has offered the following prizes for exhibits properly entered.

The prizes are to be awarded under the rules given in bulletin No. 44 of the University of Georgia:

Corn—(ten ears) first prize, $75; second prize, $50; third prize, $25; fourth prize, $10; fifth prize, $10; sixth prize, $10; seventh prize, $10; eighth prize, $5; ninth prize, $5; tenth prize, $5; eleventh prize, $5; twelfth prize, $5. Cotton (five stalks), first prize, $75; second prize, $50; third prize, $25; fourth prize, $10; fifth prize, $10; sixth prize, $10; seventh prize, $10; eighth prize, $5; ninth prize, $5; tenth prize, $15; eleventh prize, $5; twelfth prize, $5.

$1 prize to best exhibit of boy from every county not winning one of the above twenty-four prizes.

$50 first prize to county exhibiting the greatest number of entries in the corn and cotton contests.

$25 second prize to county exhibiting the second largest number of entries.

The best exhibit from each county is sure of a prize.

In each county where there are contestants the county school commissioner is urged to have the boys bring their exhibits to the county court house and there contest for county prizes. In nearly every case the county board has offered prizes, recognizing the great educational value of these studies. In Madison county $50 in school furniture to the school whose pupil wins first prize. About $350 is offered in this county in this way. Twenty or more counties have offered cash prizes. The commissioners are requested to take photographs of the exhibits and of the prize winners for use in next year's bulletin. The university expects to issue copies of the bulletin describing next year's contest and send the same to every school and farmers' club for study. At a recent meeting of the Clarke County Farmers' Club $18 was subscribed in a few minutes as prizes from the club to the boys at work in Clarke county. This has been a good year for growing corn, and we expect the best exhibit of corn at the fair ever made in the state. Encouraging reports come from Hancock, Bibb, Randolph, Newton, Hill, Cobb, Greene, Clarke, Madison and other counties. Even if there is no local contest, the authorities urge the boys to enter the state contest. Information will be furnished by Secretary Frank Weldon, of Atlanta, or Professor Joseph S. Stewart, Athens, Ga.

FATHER AND SON KILLED IN DUEL

Winona, Miss., August 29.—Information was received here yesterday of a bloody tragedy that occurred in Webster county. It appears that a quarrel arose Sunday between Sam Hightower and Walter Cooper, two well-known farmers. After some hot words had passed, the trouble was patched up, and the two men made friends.

Yesterday, as Sam Hightower, carrying a shotgun, was passing Cooper's house on his way to work, the trouble was again renewed, whereupon Walter Cooper drew his pistol and shot Hightower twice. Hightower fired one load from his gun into Cooper's body, but Cooper did not fall. Hightower fell to the ground, and Cooper, who had a pistol and a shotgun, emptied his shotgun into Hightower's body. Jim Hightower, a son of Sam's, heard the shooting and ran to the scene, and was shot and killed by Cooper. Cooper's wound is serious, and the attending physicians say he will die.

POOLE ADVISES TO HOLD COTTON

Montgomery, Ala., August 29.—(Special.) Commissioner of Agriculture R. R. Poole today gave out a statement in which he said that the cotton crop is in bad condition and "will be shorter than last year by 100,000 bales." He continued: "The fine prospects for crop in the early part of the season caused the price to be depressed, and the farmers of the state are now confronted by low prices and short crops. Every pound is worth 10 cents, and my advice is to hold and market slowly, for an intelligent course in marketing is sure to bring a higher price for the crop."

The bad condition is attributed to dry, hot weather, following excessive rains, which has caused it to rust and shed badly, and there are some complaints of blight. "The bolls are small," says Mr. Poole, "and immature, and consequently the lint is very short."

STATE FARMERS MEET AT GRIFFIN

Great Interest Being Shown in Session.

Number of Interesting Speeches Were Made—President Connor's Address Was the Feature of the Session of the Morning.

The annual convention of the Georgia State Agricultural Society is being held in Griffin, and is very largely attended. This is the sixtieth meeting of this important body and promises to be one of the most interesting of its gatherings.

The business meetings are being held in the rooms of the Commercial club, and as they are cool and inviting there is every comfort for them. The public is invited to the session and many are taking advantage of the opportunity of hearing talks from leading agriculturists. Chancellor David C. Barrow and Professor C. N. Snelling are here from Athens, and are mingling with the delegates.

There is a great deal of talk about the location of the congressional district schools, and Griffin is very favorably spoken of as the ideal place for the school that is to be located in the sixth congressional district.

Hon. Martin V. Calvin, the efficient secretary, who has been prominently spoken of as a candidate against Colonel R. J. Redding for the place as director of the state experimental farm, says that while he is a candidate, that he is not asking this society to endorse him here, because, on account of his official position with the society, he does not think it proper. Colonel Redding, the present incumbent, is very well liked in Griffin, and has many friends who are looking after his interest. Tonight a large entertainment will be given the delegates at the Commercial Club, and refreshments will be served after the regular meetings.

President Connor's Address.

At the morning session, after enrollment of delegates, President Conner delivered the customary annual address.

This address was able, comprehensive and instructive. It commanded rapt attention throughout.

Next followed an impromptu speech by Hon. J. Pope Brown, on "Georgia's Wants."

Colonel Peek made a strong, exceedingly aggressive speech on the necessity for change in fertilizer laws now of force. He wants radical changes made.

At the afternoon session Chancellor Barrow read an excellent paper on "Agricultural Education."

Colonel S. C. Dunlap, commissioner of the Georgia immigration and industrial bureau, Atlanta, made a really powerful speech in exposition of his subject.

TRAVELING MAN TAKES MANAGEMENT OF THE SOUTHERN HOTEL—EUROPEAN PLAN.

J. G. McIntire, Formerly With Wilmer L. Moore & Co., in Charge.

For several months a canvas sign: "This building is being remodeled for a first-class European hotel," has hung from the side of the large five-story brick building, belonging to the Joseph E. Brown heirs, corner of Pryor and Wall streets, opposite the Kimball house and fronting on the old Union passenger station. Few people realized the great expense and enormous amount of work being done to convert this centrally located building into what is now, open and ready for business, one of Atlanta's new, modern and first-class hotels.

In every room are inside shutters, gas, electric lights, call bell, steam heat and marble stationary washstand. Mr. McIntire cordially invites his many friends among traveling men and merchants in the state to call, for at least a handshake, and inspect the building.

When asked as to rates, he said: "Low in price, high in quality and character," which is sufficient guarantee that all ladies or gentlemen looking for a moderate priced high-class European hotel will find it in the Southern. Good cafes and restaurants in abundance near by. In this way one can make his expenses what he pleases when in the city.

Mr. McIntire is associated with Mr. H. D. Weaver, proprietor of the Shellman house, Cartersville, Ga. It was Mr. Weaver's foresight and good judgment that originated the enterprise. ***

GREAT ACTIVITY DISPLAYED IN LOCAL CHURCH CIRCLES

Many New Churches Are Going Up, and Old Houses of Worship Are Being Pulled Down to Give Room.

By Edward Young Clarke.

THE present age is not very solicitous about the sacred memories that cling around the rooms and walls of the old church edifice which has for so many years served as a meeting place for some faithful band of Christian soldiers.

And yet there are many, who, while they rejoice in the destruction of the old, if it is the signal of the coming of the new, have many a pang when the hammer and hatchet is applied to the old building, and the faithful old structure staggers under the blows of its destroyers.

The progress of Atlanta is not alone marked by her business strides, but even as comment after comment falls concerning the fact that as soon as one skyscraper is completed, plans are on foot for another, so before the city's Christian hosts have ceased exclaiming over the several latest additions to the handsome church edifices of the city, others are announced as about to go up.

More New Churches Planned.

Although the past year has been one of phonemenal addition to the magnificent and modern church edifices of the city, the return of the pastors from their vacations discloses the fact that even at this early date there are a number of new church buildings being erected, and still others being planned upon which work will shortly begin.

Such a condition tells of two things: First, that the people of Atlanta are determined that the Lord God of Hosts shall worship here in the stateliest houses they can possibly provide; and, secondly, that the tide which has been sweeping the entire country and world for the past few years looking to the greater and more lavish expenditure of money on church edifices, has not failed to leave part of its impress in Atlanta.

There was a time when the people deemed that the older their church building grew, the more sacred its memories, and, therefore, the dearer it was. The moss-covered tabernacles standing for hundreds of years, and growing more precious and valuable as decay and distegration set in, have been supplanted, and today the churches are vieing with each other in the erection of palatial and sumptuous modern structures, having within them every convenience of church and home, even to the dining room and kitchen; and bed rooms for pastor and sexton.

The meaning of it seems to be that the worship of the building is being supplanted by a Creator worship, which, if all see it as some, is of vastly more importance than the reyerent attitude formerly taken by Christians toward their church home.

Atlanta's New Churches.

The First Christian church, which is being erected at the corner of South Pryor and Trinity avenue, is rapidly nearing completion. For completeness and compactness this building will not be surpassed by any in Atlanta, Georgia, or the south. It is in many respects planned along model lines, and when completed will be the mecca of some of the most active Christian workers in Atlanta.

Dr. H. K. Pendleton, the pastor, is a man full of energy and spiritual fervor, and has for years been planning the work, which he will immediately undertake upon the completion of the new church.

The building is to be so arranged that the auditorium can be reduced when desired to a room seating only about 300 people, and expanded from that into a room seating nearly 2,500 if the occasion demands.

It will be seen, therefore, that for convenience there is not another auditorium in Atlanta that will compare with it. The building will also have other attractive features, which will commend it to the public.

Dr. Pendleton proposes to make the church as far as possible the home and place of recreation of the vast number of office workers in Atlanta, such as stenographers, bookkeepers and others. He will hold in the parlors of the church regular series of receptions and entertainments for various classes, and will endeavor in this way to make them acquainted with him, and each other, and get them, if possible, to take their recreation in the church, as well as get their spiritual inspiration from the same place.

These receptions and entertainments will not be held once in several months, as is usual, but will be regularly held every week or so, and will become permanent features of the church work. The church will represent an investment of about $100,000 when entirely completed.

New St. James.

The congregation of the St. James Methodist church has, for years, been contemplating a new edifice and a change of location. The membership has moved away from the church building, and it was thought well to move the building to about the center of the membership.

Accordingly, ground was broken for the building at their new site near Grant park, on the old Grant homestead, and the building, which is to be of stone, is well under way. Rev. Dr. Edmondson is one of the most active and consecrated of Atlanta's city pastors. He recently held a tent meeting, at which time he had Rev. Nath Thompson to assist him, and at which there were 100 conversions and additions to his church.

The Associated Reform Presbyterian church has sold its present building to the Reformed Greek church, and has bought a lot on Whitehall street, and will shortly begin the erection of a handsome and commodious edifice. This church has wonderfully prospered under the able and cautious leadership of Rev. Dr. Phillips. Dr. Phillips is one of the most prominent ministers of this denomination, and a minister who fears not to speak the gospel at all times, and under any circumstances.

All are familiar with the preparations being made by the Baptist Tabernacle for the most magnificent building in Atlanta to be used for the consolidation of all the various departmental and institutional work of this church. This building will rise ten stories from the ground, and will be more than 300 by 150 feet. It will have in it an auditorium seating probably from 7,000 to 10,0000 people. As soon as Dr. Broughton returns from Europe he will take up the work of perfecting the details of the plans of the building, and as soon as this is done, the erection of the edifice will begin.

Among the old edifices which are soon to pass away, and no more appear to remind Atlantans that they are houses of worship, are the First Christian church, on Hunter street; the old St. James Methodist church, the old Grace Methodist church, and the old First Baptist, which is already nearly razed.

In Atlanta's religious life old things are passing away, but new things are coming to take their place; and who is it who will dare to say that the new is not better than the old, inasmuch as the new represents the desire on the part of God's people to worship Him in houses of as much dignity as money and thought can buy and plan.

CITY THROWN IN DARKNESS.

Sandersville Suffers From Terrific Thunder Storm.

Sandersville, Ga., August 29.—(Special.) During a thunder storm this afternoon lightning struck a corner of the steeple of the new Methodist church, tearing off almost the entire corner of it. The bolt then got off onto the electric light wires, destroying five or six transformers and otherwise damaging the electric plant, in consequence of which the city is in darkness tonight. Three hundred dollars will cover the damage to the church, and so far as is now known about the same damage to the electric plant. The city owns and operates the electric plant, and since starting nearly two years ago, this is the first time it has been disabled.

CARRIERS WANT ADDITIONAL TIME

Appeal Made to Commerce Commission.

One Express Company Has Prepared 400,000 Rates and Is Still at Work—Seeming Willingness to Comply With the Law.

Washington, August 29.—Every one of the carriers under the recently enacted railroad rate law is seeking an extension of time in which to file with the interstate commerce commission its schedule of rates provided for by the act. All of them represented to the commission that it has been impossible, thus far to comply absolutely with the requirements of the law because they have not had the time necessary to complete their schedules of rates. All of the companies express their desire to comply absolutely with the law in all respects required.

Representatives of nearly all of the thirteen express companies doing business in the United States were present at today's hearing. The members of the interstate commission in attendance were Chairman Knapp and Commissioners Clements, Cockrell, Lane and Clark.

Frank H. Platt, of New York, of the United States Express company told the commission that his company had thus far prepared about 400,000 rates, but that it was not through by any means. He said that the company had strained itself to the utmost in doing the work and now had fifty additional men at work on the schedules, but it would require some time yet to complete the work. He urged the commission to grant an extension of time and not to insist op a posting of the schedule of rates at every office as that would be practically a physical impossibility.

Cost of Carrying.

In the course of Mr. Platt's statement, it was developed that the expense of the express business in the aggregate was just about twice as great as the expenses of the transportation of express matter on the railroads. In other words one half in round figures of the cost of transmission of express matter was paid to the railroads and one half for cartage and other charges.

All of the speakers today assured the commission that their companies were doing everything in their power to put the commission in possession of the schedules at the earliest possible date. They agreed, generally, that it would take until November for them to complete their individual rates. In the opinion of all a further extension of time would be necessary for the filing of joint rates.

The commission made no order but it is expected that one will be issued at a later day.

Reduced Rates to Macon via Central of Georgia Railway.

NEW AUTOMOBILE SERVICE.

Will Operate in Connection With the Street Railway.

Savannah Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—M. Ed Wilson this afternoon presented a petition to the city council asking for a franchise allowing a local stock company to conduct an automobile passenger service on Bull street. The petition asked for the right to run a line of passenger automobiles from the city hall out Bull street to Forty-second street. Mr. Wilson says, if everything goes all right, he will have the line in operation within thirty days. He proposes to inaugurate other lines than the one asked for above in case the venture proves successful. The proposed service will be in direct competition with the street railway company.

DRUGGISTS PLAN BIG CONVENTION

Many Special Side Trips Arranged For Coming Gathering.

A meeting of the information committee, A. L. Curtis, chairman, of the National Association of Retail Druggists was held in the rooms of the chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon and several railroad men and hotel proprietors were present in addition to the members of the committee. The occasion of the meeting was the discussion of making the information bureau at the coming convention which will be held in Atlanta in October one of the features of the big gathering.

This information bureau will be established at the New Kimball which has been selected by this big association numbering some 60,000 members, for official headquarters during the big Atlanta meeting. It is the intention to supply this bureau not only with plenty of information regarding the places of chief interest in and around Atlanta, but experienced railroad men will be in attendance to furnish detailed information for the making of trips to near by points in the state.

Requests for information regarding the reaching of certain points in Georgia have already been received from some of the druggists who will attend the big convention. These requests have asked for the fare and other details regarding special trips to some of the historic battlefields in Georgia while others have wanted to visit some of the cotton mill towns of the state and make a tour of the big factories.

Among other matters discussed at yesterday's meeting was the arranging for several special trips to certain of these places of interest and it is probable that large parties will visit the battlefields at Marietta, Chickamauga and other places. A large party will also visit the mills at Griffin and other near by centers. Trips will also be arranged to more distant places in the state including Tybee, St. Simons, Tallulah Falls and other famous resorts.

Great interest is being centered in this coming convention which will be at one time one of the largest and most important ever held in Atlanta. Indications already point to an attendance of a least 2,500. The New York delegation has already chartered an entire steamer for their own transportation, and the Quaker City, not to be outdone by the Gothamites, also chartered a steamer which will be used exclusively for the Philadelphia druggists attending the Atlanta convention.

A special train has been selected as the proper means of transportation for the St. Louis druggists, and the Kansas City delegation will probably join the St. Louis forces. While the chartered boats will come by way of Savannah, the special trains will come through direct, and it is expected that the decorations of these trains will add to the general gaiety of the Gate City. Word has been received from one of the Ohio cities stating that several Pullman coaches had been secured and would be appropriately decorated.

This is the first convention of the retail druggists which has ever been held in the south and a very large attendance of southerners is expected, as in addition to the social enjoyment, the sessions offer a real and beneficial education to all attending druggists, the speakers being the recognized authorities on the subjects treated and bearing both a national and international reputation.

Dr. W. S. Elkin, Jr., president of the Atlanta Druggists' association, Dr. Robert L. Palmer, who extended the Atlanta invitation at the Boston convention last year, and their associates, are working hard in the perfecting of every detail looking to the success of the big gathering.

The manufacturers of medicinal preparations and beverages usually found at drug store fountains are also contributing generously toward the entertainment of the coming visitors.

MURDERER IS BROUGHT BACK.

After Liberty of Two Years He Is Captured at Starke, Fla.

Huntsville, Ala., August 29.—James Hamilton, a white man charged with committing murder in this county three years ago, has been brought here from Stark, Fla., where he was captured two weeks ago. Hamilton killed W. C. Drake at New Hope. Drake was shot on the public highway and Hamilton claims that he had been notified that Drake was looking for him to kill him. The trouble arose over Hamilton's alleged attentions to Drake's wife.

Chosen President of Assembly.

Nashville, August 29.—Colonel A. M. Shook, of Nashville, one of the best known and wealthiest men in the south, was yesterday chosen president of the Monteagle assembly to succeed the late Major John W. Thomas, president of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway.

SOON THE FESTIVE OYSTER WILL BE AMONG US AGAIN

The melancholy days approach,
With hopes of cooler weather;
The oyster and the letter R
Come hand in hand together.

AFTER spending his summer vacation far from the bill of fare, the coy and reluctant oyster is rapidly returning to add to the joys and gaieties of life on Whitehall and Peachtree streets and is due to arrive next Saturday, along with the first autumn month which carries that letter R, which stands for oyster, and has stood for it these many years, even though the new "spellin' book" of the Carnegie-Roosevelt educational association was unheard, unheralded and unsung.

In spite of the fact that a short cotton crop is reported in many sections, there is gladness in the knowledge that the season is sure to be a good one in almost all of the salty bivalve districts, and oysters will be plentiful and as cheap as the present freight rates will permit in Atlanta. While it will probably be some time yet before these bivalves are served as the first course at the 15-cent lunch counter, authorities yesterday announced that they will be among the costly possibilities at the best hotels and restaurants in another week.

Many are the joys and pleasures of summer, but for fall is reserved the "sheff derve" (by the new spellin' book) of the epicure, when deviled crab and the broiled lobster are relegated to innocuous desuetude and the blue point rules supreme from cocktails and napkins to pie, toothpicks and the after-dinner cordial, although the toothpicks are eliminated in gold-filled and gold-crowned circles.

And right now while the hot and perspiring Atlantan is chasing the slick and elusive dollar among the skyscraper centers of the Gate City of the South, little fleets of oyster smacks are starting for the oyster beds along the Atlantic coast. According to all reports, the indications for the oyster season this year are particularly bright, and the chances are all in favor of securing quite enough bivalves in each oyster stew to keep those tasty edibles from being lonesome. This is not always true when the bivalve crop is small, and in the ordinary stew the holder of the ticket procured from the cashier pays for little more than boiled milk and a taste of shell.

Each year finds the number of oysters consumed in Atlanta growing larger and larger. There are those, too, who claim that they grow more and more expensive with the course of time, but this is much too true of the general run of table necessities and luxuries to hold the poor oyster either personally or collectively to blame.

But in spite of the hot and sticky weather which was Atlanta's share for so long a period, there is real comfort in the fact that the song of the oyster opener will soon be abroad in the land once more.

PRACTICAL EDUCATION IN CITY HIGH SCHOOLS

A GREAT deal of attention is being given by the board of education to business and technical departments of the city schools, for the reason of their practical side, in that these departments fit the pupils for various business positions. The thought of practical training along these lines was introduced into the Girls' High school by Mrs. Corinne Douglas. Some time later on, in 1903, the board established business and technical courses in the Boys' High school, the purpose of the technical departments to fit them for a more extended course in other schools of this character.

There have been some changes made in the courses of study in these two departments, and an outline of the courses follows. In some cases the full outline of the study does not appear:

English—The courses in English for the classical, business and technological departments are identical and they are taught by the same teachers. These courses all continue through three years.

Mathematics: Classical—Well's Arithmetic, Hall's Algebra, Wentworth's Geometry, Plane and Solid; Wentworth's Trigonometry.

Business—Same as classical except that instead of geometry and trigonometry, commercial arithmetic is taken.

Technological—Well's Arithmetic, Hall's Algebra, Wentworth's Plane and Solid Geometry, Wentworth's College Algebra, Trigonometry, about one-half of Analytical Geometry.

Science: Classical—Physical Geography, Foundations of Botany, Elementary Chemistry and Introduction to Physical Science. Laboratory work emphasized.

Technological—Chemistry to prepare for sophomore class in Technological school. Laboratory work.

Business—Science omitted.

Debating and declaiming is required of all pupils.

Languages: Classical—Latin, Greek, Spanish.

Business—Spanish.

Business Course: Complete course in shorthand, typewriting, commercial correspondence, commercial geography.

Technological Course: Mechanical drawing—Complete course in freehand drawing, model and object drawing, memory drawing, geometrical construction, orthographic, isometric and cabinet projections. Building construction, details of wooden, brick or stone house construction. Machine details, machine sketching. In connection with mechanical drawing the students of the senior class pursue a course in descriptive geometry, completing first half of book.

Wood Shop Practice—Beginning with the most elementary principles and continuing through supplementary work and pattern making. Supplementary work consists of preparation of stock, building, filling, varnishing, polishing cases, cabinets, tables, chairs, clocks, etc. Goss' Bench Work in Wood completed.

Forging—A course in theforging of soft iron. Introduction of steel forging, tempering, elementary work, such as tongs, hammers, screw drivers, swages, etc.

Penmanship is required of all students.

The Springfield (Mass.) Republican is more than ever convinced since the president's open letter to that Indiana congressman that the way, and the only way, to get tariff reform is to vote the democratic ticket.

Bryan.

The democratic hosts assembled in New York to give welcome to William Jennings Bryan reflect in their enthusiasm the feeling of the masses of American people toward the foremost private citizen of these United States.

A truly remarkable tribute is this—one without parallel in the history of this or any other country.

When General Grant returned after his round-the-world trip, he was given most enthusiastic reception at the hands of the people; but General Grant had for two terms held the exalted position of president of the United States, and back of that was a record of military success which fired the northern heart. Mr. Bryan's political career is marked by two successive defeats for the presidency, and yet the popular enthusiasm over him is fully equal to, if not greater than, that accorded Grant.

There can be no doubt of the genuineness of this enthusiasm, nor of the reason for it. First, it is a tribute to the character of the man who has passed unscathed through an avalanche of criticism and misrepresentation covering a period of fourteen years and more; second, it is most eloquent recognition of the righteousness of the great fight for reform in which he has been the foremost figure.

Mr. Bryan has not changed since that first great battle in 1896, but the American people have come to a better understanding of him and the principles for which he, as the chosen leader of the democratic party, was then contending. He has been fully vindicated by the progress of events—and so, too, has the party of which he stands, now as then, the peerless leader. The present "Bryan wave" is no less a democratic wave, and its portent is democratic victory in 1908.

Every democrat in America joins in the welcome extended Mr. Bryan—and so does almost everybody else.

Farmers' Union Texarkana Meeting.

Of great interest to the south is the meeting of the Farmer's Educational and Cooperative Union, to assemble at Texarkana on September 5. Under the call just issued through The Tri-Weekly Constitution by President Duckworth, this is to be a delegated meeting, the basis of representation being one delegate at large from each state in which the union has established itself and one delegate for each 2,500 members or majority fraction thereof.

This insures a convention thoroughly representative of the farmers of the south, for in practically all the southern states the union, under its present efficient management, has obtained a strong foothold. The members are the actual farmers—in the cotton states the men who are actively engaged in growing the cotton.

One of the most important matters to be considered at the Texarkana convention is the marketing of the present cotton crop. Outside of those matters pertaining to organization—the election of officers for the ensuing year and the preparation for the extension of the union's membership—the marketing problem will doubtless receive the greatest consideration. For as cotton growers, the members of the union fully realize that upon the wise solution of this problem depends not only the success of the organization, but the prosperity of every member and of the whole south.

In December, 1904, when cotton was selling at 8 1-2 cents a pound, the Farmers' Union fixed the minimum selling price at 10 cents and in less than thirty days the market responded accordingly.

In August, 1905, the price was fixed by this organization at 11 cents and seven million bales of the crop of that year were sold at that price.

The Farmers' Union has already done a great work for the south. It is, however, just on the threshold of its usefulness. Organized as it is upon a strictly non-political basis; comprising as it does a very large percentage of the actual growers of cotton in most of the cotton states; operating on strictly business lines—the measure of good which can be done by the union is beyond computing.

Last year the union demonstrated its great usefulness when, after a thorough investigation into conditions, it notified the world that the cotton growers expected to receive 11 cents a pound for their cotton. This figure was subsequently adopted by the Southern Cotton Association. The farmers held that this was a just and fair price for their staple, and the mill men, who are as anxious as the farmers that the business be upon a stable basis, accepted this as a fair figure fully warranted by the law of supply and demand.

When, later, the executive committee of the Southern Cotton Association changed the price to 15 cents the Farmers' Union declined to join in it. They had fixed the price at 11 cents in good faith, and they stuck to it. The disastrous effect upon the market of the 15 cents demand needs no reciting. The spinners felt they had no assurance that the price would not again be "boosted;" and under the manipulation of the speculative market which followed prices went tumbling.

The members of the Farmers' Union have always felt that this disastrous result fully justified their refusal to be led into the 15-cent movement. They are going to this year's convention more deeply impressed than ever with the wisdom of fixing a price which will insure a good profit to the grower and at the same time guarantee to the spinner that stability so essential to every business tranaction of the magnitude of that presented in the disposal of the cotton crop.

The members of the union have every reason to feel proud of their organization and the good work it has already accomplished. They are handling their problems in a sensible, business-like way that inspires the confidence of the business world. A continuation of this policy means much to themselves and to the entire south. If the same wisdom shapes their action at Texarkana that controlled their action last year; if, after taking a thorough review of the situation, they determine upon a just and fair price for their product, and, having fixed this price, stick to it; they will not only strengthen their organization in the eyes of the commercial world, but will demonstrate their great usefulness to the growers of cotton and to every interest in the south.

The problem presenting itself to the union is a business problem to be solved in a strictly business-like way. The record already made by the union gives assurance that it will rise equal to its present opportunity.

Major Walter Reed.

We call the attention of our readers and southern newspaper contemporaries to the letter of President Eliot, of Harvard university, to Editor Bryan, of The Richmond Times-Dispatch, printed elsewhere on this page.

The letter in question relates to a subject of peculiar interest to the people of the gulf states, namely, yellow fever and its spread.

President Eliot, as one of the committee appointed for the purpose, is very much interested in completing the fund of $25,000 which, shortly after the death of Major Walter Reed, it was proposed to raise for the benefit of his widow and, after her death, to be used in the erection of some kind of a memorial in Washington to the army surgeon who so greatly benefited humanity by discovering the means by which yellow fever is spread. Major Reed, it will be remembered, was a southern man, and his great discovery peculiarly benefits the southern states. It is but natural that, under the circumstances, the people and press of the south should interest themselves in the plan to do something for the dead army surgeon's family and toward a monument to perpetuate his memory.

As President Eliot explains to Editor Bryan, during the past year $20,000 of the desired $25,000 has been subscribed, largely by physicians in the north and west. From all the states of the south only about $300 has been contributed. This is not a complimentary showing for the south, but it is doubtless due principally to the fact that the attention of the southern people has not been called to the matter in the proper way. A little publicity in the southern press is desirable and will probably aid materially, and Dr. Eliot's suggestion that the boards of trade and commercial organizations of the southern port cities contribute, is doubtless a good one. The remaining $5,000 aught to be raised in the south with little difficulty, and if southern people take the interest in the matter that they should, after their attention has been called to it, The Constitution feels sure that the fund will be speedily closed.

President Eliot says with truth:

The comparative exemption from yellow fever which Major Reed's discovery procured for the West Indies, the United States and the tropical countries of South America is an immense benefaction and an incalculable gain for commerce and business. There has been no greater medical discovery since vaccination, with the exception of anesthesia and aseptic surgery. The United States government is not in the habit of rewarding such discoveries, as all the European governments do, especially France and Germany. It is therefore left for private persons to provide for the widow and, ultimately, to commemorate the achievement.

Collections or single contributions may be sent direct to President Charles W. Eliot, Cambridge, Mass., or to Daniel C. Gilman, No. 614 Park avenue, Baltimore.

HE RECEIVED BIG INTEREST.

Superintendent Admits on Stand His Usurious Practice.

Savannah, Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—The investigation of the money lending practice of J. J. Garrity, superintendent of the city scavenger department, by a committee of council yesterday afternoon, brought out the fact that Garrity has had a regular gold mine in lending money to the negro employees of the department which he controlled. The evidence was that Garrity loaned money to the negroes at the rate of 15 cents on the dollar every two weeks. When they didn't pay him he took it out of their hire. He admitted his usurious practice on the stand.

MRS. CLEVELAND CLIMBS.

The Ex-President's Wife Walks Up Mount Wasnington.

Mount Washington, N. H., August 29.—Mrs. Grover Cleveland, wife of the former president, walked up Mount Washington yesterday. She stood the trip well. It was the longest mountain climb Mrs. Cleveland has ever taken, but she stood the journey well. In her party were her niece, Miss Hastings, of New York; John F. Finley, president of New York college, and Mrs. Finley; Rev. William A. Richards, daughter and son, New York, and Miss Cahoone, Plainfield, N. J.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Is Mr. Watson a Prophet?

Editor Constitution: Reading through the last issue of Tom Watson's Magazine, that for September, which has just appeared, it has struck me that Mr. Watson's claims to prophecy should not be overlooked.

On page 340 of this issue Mr. Watson has something of interest to say about political conditions in his own county of McDuffie, which should not be overlooked. This was evidently written before the recent primary, and on that account it has some value as a contribution to the records of political prophecy. Tom there writes:

"It is a sad fact that Thomson, like more of the towns in Georgia, is hopelessly democratic. I have labored with these people faithfully, and still have hopes for their political redemption. The populists have never carried the town, no matter who was their candidate. THE POPULISTS HAVE ALWAYS CARRIED EVERY COUNTRY PRECINCT OF McDUFFIE COUNTY, AND I HAVE NEVER FAILED TO DO SO."

A strong thundering of prophecy in the index, but what a mighty tumble in the conclusion!

As for the prophetic part, Thomson again proved itself "hopelessly democratic" in the late primary. Again did the populists fail to carry the town, as Watson says, has been their lamentable habit. But—

The populists failed to carry McDuffie county THIS time, and Watson himself failed to do so. The candidate with whom he was "running this race," the candidate who had the support of all the active populists of the county—this candidate who was as completely Watson as Watson himself, failed to carry McDuffie!

All of which shows that Tom is only half a prophet at best.

Traffic Manager Moore for Commissioner.

Editor Constitution: I see that Harry T. Moore is being spoken of to succeed Joseph M. Brown as railroad commissioner.

I don't think there is an available man in Georgia who is better equipped than Mr. Moore to do the work required of a commissioner intelligently and effectively.

As traffic manager and rate expert of the Atlanta freight bureau Mr. Moore has grown thoroughly familiar with the problems and intricacies of the duties that would devolve upon him as commissioner, and to those who know him personally, as I do, no assurance need be given that, if elected, he will bring a high degree of efficiency and earnestness to bear upon the work of the office.

He is just the sort of fearless, practical, reliable man that the exigencies of present conditions demand—one who will labor loyally and honestly for an equitable adjustment of the issues that have arisen between the railroads and the business interests of the state. I. S. JONAS.

Drive Out Dives, Say Negro Leaders.

Editor Constitution: As a minister deeply interested in the uplift and betterment of my people, essaying to serve them as a faithful servant of the Lord Jesus Christ, and unwilling to believe that by your eloquent tongue or trenchant pen you would do us knowingly an injury, I write this card.

The agitation for the enlistment of the cooperation of the ministers and leaders of my race for the suppression of vice and the arousement of a strong public opinion against the criminals of my race is timely and meets the hearty approval of every sane leader among us. This is not a new subject with us. Allen Temple African Methodist Episcopal church, of which I am pastor, has discussed and is making strenuous efforts to reach the unreached of my people. We held a mass meeting a few weeks ago touching this class. Professor Walter Hill, principal of the Summer Hill public school, led in the discussion. It was my suggestion which brought this subject before this body. It would have gladdened your heart to have visited the Allen Christian Endeavor Society and heard these Christian young people denounce in unmeasured terms these crimes and give their experience along the line of rescue work.

We desire to say that we have not words sufficiently strong to denounce a rapist, be he black or white. Like all other mad dogs, his existence should early terminate. The person harboring such brutes should be classed with them and meet the same fate. It was Elijah who thought that he was the only one left of God's prophets to tell the story, but he was informed that there were others—yes, "seven thousand in Israel, all the knees which had not bowed to Baal." In the same spirit we desire to say that there are those among us just as deeply incensed and as sincere in their speech as our white brother. We, too, feel keenly the "weight of the body of this death."

I fear, Mr. Editor, that the leaders of both the white and colored people are too far apart. I believe great mass meetings should be called of the conservative leaders, keeping in mind that "we are our brother's keeper," and a heart to heart discussion, out of which should come a line of procedure that should make for the betterment of all concerned.

We desire to inform you that these demoralizing dens of vice and shame, these two-by-four dudes who have sworn eternal enmity to honest labor, these barrooms and dance halls are the greatest menace to our progress.

We rejoice in that you have decided to put the multiplicity of vagrants out of business, for out of this class comes the brutes and scullions of the race. Our hearts are right, our hands extended and our desires are in harmony with yours for a purer and higher civilization which knows no color so far as crime is concerned.

We admire the stand the proud Anglo-Saxon has taken regarding his women. You have placed them among the stars and guard them with gattling guns. And we are urging our race to take a firmer and stronger stand for our women, believing in so doing we are conserving the best interests of both races. The reign of terror so recent in our city and the sweep of public opinion which seems to hasten to condemn the negro leaders is a distinct grief and humiliation to the true and tried among us, who are sons of those who cared for your homes in those days when you faced shot and shell on a hundred battle fields, and on your return you found them faithful to their trust and loyal to their duty. In the name of God we ask for a suspension of judgment touching our race leaders. These are disastrous times; we have trusted you too long, relied too implicitly in your integrity, and are entrenched too securely in your Christian civilization to be deserted in these perilous times.

We are with you in the crusade to drive out the dives. We would that it was in our power to clear Decatur and Peters streets of every barroom, club room and restaurant that allows beer and whisky served. These places are frequented by the lower element of my race and are the hotbeds of crime and nurseries of the vagrants of our city. From this class come the criminals. We desire to assure you that the brute guilty of the nameless crime has no sympathy and shall find no shelter in the confines of the better elements of our people. We believe a mass meeting of the leaders of both races is in order, out of which we believe will come a panacea which will go far to ameliorate the disturbed condition of public opinion and dispel the dark cloud which hangs across our pathway. Respectfully,

W. A. FOUNTAIN.

STATE GOSSIP CAUGHT IN CAPITOL CORRIDORS

STATE SCHOOL COMMISSIONER W. B. MERRITT received a letter yesterday from M. C. Edwards, a lawyer of Dawson, Ga., in which Mr. Edwards states that he has access to the returns from the recent democratic primary which are being sent to Chairman M. J. Yeomans, of the state executive committee, and assures Mr. Merritt that he has carried every county, including more than one hundred of them, from which the returns have been received by the chairman up to date. This is taken as conclusive evidence of State School Commissioner Merritt's renomination to his present position, in spite of the claims which Mark Johnson, of Baldwin, is making to the effect that he has carried the state. Little credence has been placed in Mr. Johnson's claims, and Mr. Merritt states that at no time has he been worried as to the result.

Definite report was brought to the capitol yesterday that Lee county, which has been claimed by Hon. Mark Johnson, gave Mr. Merritt a majority of 142. The official figures from Lee are: Merritt 250, Johnson 108. This seems to dispose of another of the counties claimed by Mr. Johnson.

First Reformatory Sentence.

Although the state reformatory at Milledgeville has not been formally opened, the first sentence to that institution has already been passed.

Calvin Potter, a 16-year-old white boy of Jackson county, has been sentenced to serve three years in the state reformatory for burglary, according to advices received at the capitol yesterday. He was tried and convicted on two charges and will be placed in the reformatory as soon as it is opened on October 1. In the meantime he will probably be held in the Jackson county jail.

Fine Likeness of Davis.

Captain R. E. Park, state treasurer, received through the mails yesterday from Mrs. T. M. Carter, of Albany, Ga., a fac simile of a portrait of Jefferson Davis, president of the confederacy, which he prizes very highly. Mrs. Carter was the daughter of Chief Justice Tarpley, of Mississippi, at whose house President Jefferson Davis spent the night before he went to Montgomery, Ala., to become executive head of the confederacy. As he was leaving the Tarpley home he handed to Mrs. Carter, then Miss Tarpley, a portrait of himself, and the picture sent to Captain Park is a photographic copy of that one. It is regarded as an excellent likeness and is said to be the best picture of President Davis as he then appeared that can be found in existence today.

Governor Going to New York.

Governor Terrell will leave some time next week for New York, accompanied by his wife, for a ten days' vacation. He has been unable to leave the state prior to this time on account of the press of business in his office, much of which devolved upon him as the result of the recent meeting of the legislature. He said he would have liked very much to be present at the demonstration to be given Bryan, but was unable to leave the state in time to get there.

FOR VIEW AND BREEZES WOMAN ENTERS COURT

ALLEGING that S. W. Sullivan, by building a house nearer than 50 feet from the front sidewalk on the east side of Grant park, was acting illegally, cutting off the view from her house on the adjoining lot, spoiling the regularity of the frontage of the house, cutting off the southern breezes and otherwise injuring and damaging her property, Mrs. Augusta E. Underwood on yesterday filed a petition in the superior court praying that Sullivan be temporarily restrained from continuing the erection of the house over a line 50 feet from the front sidewalk, and that she be granted an injunction mandamus requiring Sullivan to pull down so much of the house as he has constructed over said 50-foot line; that she have and recover damages from A. B. Buehl, from whom she bought her property, for $6,000.

Judge Pendleton granted a temporary restraining order enjoining Sullivan from proceeding further with the building of that portion of the house which projects beyond the 50-foot line until the matter can be heard and determined on September 8.

Mrs. Underwood avers that in January, 1903, A. B. Buehl entered into a contract that houses on the property now owned by her and Sullivan should not be erected nearer than 50 feet from the front sidewalk, and should be not less than two stories high; that, notwithstanding this reservation or condition in Sullivan's deed, he was constructing a house within 40 feet of the sidewalk, injuring and damaging her property irreparably—the damage not being measurable in dollars and cents.

T. J. Ripley represents the petitioner.

Upon the petition of Mrs. E. Wolford Wood, Judge Pendleton on yesterday granted a temporary restraining order enjoining the Gate City Terminal Company from condemning certain property of hers on the east side of Haynes street until the cause can be heard on September 8.

Mrs. Wood alleges that her property is not sought for the purpose of a right of way for a railroad, but that the Terminal company seeks to acquire it for terminal purposes to lease it to the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic Railroad Company and the Seaboard Air Line railroad, the latter company being a foreign corporation, which cannot condemn property in this state.

E. M. & G. F. Mitchell represent the petitioner, and Rosser & Brandon the defendant.

A similar petition was filed by the New Terminal and Realty Company, which owns property on the corner of Haynes and Hunter streets. The Gate City Terminal Company is seeking to condemn this property, and the plaintiff makes allegations similar to those set forth in Mrs. Wood's petition.

Judge Pendleton granted a temporary restraining order enjoining the condemnation proceedings until a hearing can be had on September 8.

Frank Lederle, A. M. Lederle and Hamilton Douglas filed a petition in the superior court yesterday to be incorporated under the name of "The Blue Ridge Power Company," with a capital stock of $500,000, with privilege of increasing same to $1,000,000. The company, as soon as 50 per cent of the capital stock is paid in, will develop and furnish water and electric power to consumers.

Jeff D. Smith, J. O. Powell and Eb T. Williams on yesterday filed a petition for charter for the "Atlanta Saw Works," which is to be capitalized at $15,000, with privilege of increasing same to $100,000. The incorporators will engage in the manufacture and sale of saws and agricultural implements.

PRESIDENT ELIOT ON THE REED FUND

The Constitution is in receipt of a communication from Editor John Stewart Bryan, of The Richmond Times-Dispatch, urging cooperation in the work of raising a fund for the widow and to perpetuate the memory of the late Major Walter Reed, United States army surgeon, the discoverer of the means of yellow fever's propagation.

Editor Bryan reproduces the following letter recently received by him from President Eliot, of Harvard university:

"A year ago an effort was begun to raise a fund of $25,000, the income of which should go to the widow and daughter during their lives, and should subsequently be used for a permanent memorial, presumably in the city of Washington, for Major Reed. After a year of effort $20,000 have been procured from about 450 subscribers, most of whom are physicians in the northern and western states. President Gilman and I wish very much to complete the proposed subscription, and to make the income immediately available for Mrs. Reed.

"The comparative exemption from yellow fever which Major Reed's discovery procured from the West Indies, the United States and the tropical countries of South America is an immense benefaction and an incalculable gain for commerce and business. There has been no greater medical discovery since vaccination, with the exception of anesthesia and aseptic surgery. The United States government is not in the habit of rewarding such discoveries, as all the European governments do, especially France and Germany. It is therefore left for private persons to provide for the widow and ultimately to commemorate the achievement.

"Among the contributions for this object I find a total of only $300 from the southern states. If attention were called to this good object in the public prints and in conversation of those who are able to contribute, do you not think that this very small contribution from the states especially interested in the fruits of Major Reed's discovery could be significantly increased? Would it not be appropriate for the chambers of commerce or boards of trade in the principal southern ports to contribute to this memorial? To those ports Major Reed's achievement has been, and is likely to be, of immense value. Major Reed was a southerner."

MANY FIRMS OFFER CHINKS.

Specifications of Contract Are Sent to 150.

Washington, August 29.—No application has yet ben made to the isthmian canal commission for the specifications recently issued for the supply of Chinese coolies labor for canal construction work on the isthmus. This does not mean, however, that no bids will be received. The commission has had inquiries for two years or more concerning the likelihood of the employment of coolie labor. These inquiries came from about 150 firms, and as rapidly as they were received a mailing list was made up. When specifications were issued the commission at once mailed copies to each of these firms and anticipated the probable demand of the 150 or more firms in the business of furnishing contract labor for great construction enterprises. It is believed at the commission headquarters that between 150 and 200 will bid for the canal contract.

WILL NOMINATE CONGRESSMAN

Convention Will Decide Contest Between Sheppard and Brennen.

Savannah, Ga., August 29.—Those who are interested in the fight for congress in the first district which is now on between W. W. Sheppard, of Chatham, and J. A. Brannen, of Bulloch, will leave for Statesboro this afternoon at 6 o'clock to attend the convention, which goes into session there on Thursday morning. Mr. Sheppard and his friends will go this afternoon. Besides the regular delegates to the convention, Mr. Sheppard will have many staunch friends on the ground during the time the convention is in session. What is to be done by the convention is the merest guess work. Each candidate has 18 votes and it remains to be seen how the deadlock shall be broken. There is much talk of dark horses, but there has been no tangible nor definite move on the part of any one yet to capture the plum in this way. The fight is for the long term. J. W. Overstreet, of Screven, will be nominated for the short term when the convention meets, with Colonel E. P. Miller, of Liberty, in the chair.

GROWERS WILL HOLD MEETING

Harvie Jordan Will Attend Convention at Valdosta.

Valdosta, Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—The sea island cotton growers of Georgia and Florida will meet here Thursday and Friday to take up many matters of interest to them. Hon. Harvie Jordan is expected to be among the prominent men in attendance.

The meeting this year promises to be more largely attended than ever before, as it is the beginning of the season, and the crop is in poor condition. The various delegates will bring reports from all quarters and the action of the convention will probably be based upon these reports.

It is expected that the convention will set a price for the staple this year, based upon the crop outlook and upon the reports that are submitted by the delegates. Unofficial reports indicate that the excessive rains have played havoc with sea island cotton in Georgia and Florida alike.

The high prices for short staple cotton induced many farmers to plant that, the result being that the acreage of sea island was reduced.

Put Stamp on Silver Coin.

New York, August 29.—An interesting dollar contribution came to the republican congressional campaign committee yesterday. It was a silver dollar with a postage stamp stuck on its face. It was addressed plainly with red ink to Congressman Sherman. The dollar was mailed in St. Mary's, W. Va.

DIVES ARE RUN AS RESTAURANTS

Chief of Police Will Abolish Them.

Wants No Restaurant Licensed Without Application Reported Upon Favorably by Council—Police Board Meets Tonight—To Try Officer Jones.

Chief Jennings will present to the police board tonight an important paper in which he recommends that no license be granted to a restaurant unless an application is first made to the council police committee and acted upon favorably by that committee. He wants the same rule to apply to restaurants as govern saloons and pool rooms.

The chief has taken this step in order to get rid of the negro dives in the city. He is following the suggestions which have been outlined in The Constitution, and says that it will never be possible to rid the city of vagrants and loafers until the dives are abolished.

It is well known that many of the worst dives in the city are run in the guise of restaurants. A license is taken out for an alleged restaurant which is located close to a saloon, and there crowds of negro men and women congregate all day and late into the night, ostensibly for the purpose of eating a lunch, but really to drink beer and whisky. In this way women, who are not allowed in saloons, can get all the liquor they wish.

It is Chief Jennings' desire to close up these dives that go under the name of restaurants by refusing to license them and the only way, he says, that such licenses can be refused will be for no restaurant license to be granted unless an application has been acted on by the police committee and council.

Will Meet With Indorsement.

It is believed the police board will heartily endorse the suggestion of the chief and that the matter will go before council next week with a favorable report.

Since the police board has met and had the chief to appoint twelve more policement the question is being asked: What has become of civil service?

Three of the four commissioners who contend that civil service exists in the police department were not present at the meeting of the board Tuesday night. The other one, Councilman Oldknow, was willing to do anything to give the city police protection.

Since the alleged civil service was instituted a captain has been elected and a number of supernumeraries have been promoted by the chief, all with a complete ignoring of the civil service rules. Now comes the appointment of twelve new policemen and they will go on duty under the old regime before the alleged civil service was put into force.

At the meeting tonight Policeman George Jones will be tried on the charge of failing to properly look after property left in his charge.

"A Message From Mars."

The roughest crowd in the most questionable entertainment will cheer to the echo a song of home or mother or babyland. It is those things that touch the heart that are appreciated by the people. This is preliminary to announcing the fact that Richard Ganthony's comedy, "A Message from Mars," will again be presented here by David Proctor. When Mr. Proctor was here last season he "made good." No one has ever yet seen this play who did not cheer to the echo the splendid moral lesson taught by it. It is a play that unquestionably touches the heart and mind. It is homelike; it has no unnaturalness; it is a part of every day life. In brief, the most selfish man in the world is cured of his sin and becomes not only generous in act, but in his thoughts of his fellow man. It is when the reformation is complete that audiences see the beauty of the play, but there are always entertained and amused in the progress of the play in its evolutions to reach the desired result—that of reforming the selfish individual.

"A Message from Mars" will be presented here for the second time by Mr. Proctor at the Grand this afternoon and tonight, when he will have associated with him a most excellent company of players, many of whom appeared in this play from the time it was first brought out in London.

"The County Fair."

There are many plays that tell in an interesting way some of the every-day incidents of rural life, but "The County Fair," as portrayed by Neil Burgess, stands in a class by itself. There is probably no actor on the American stage who could give such a natural representation of "Aunt Abby," and therein lies the secret of the long continued success that has followed his efforts to entertain the theater going public. Mr. Burgess is one of the few actors who can take a female role without at some time doing something which betrays his sex.

Neil Burgess in "The County Fair" will be the attraction at the Grand next Saturday, matinee and night.

Haverly's Mastodon minstrels will appear at the Bijou next week, opening with a matinee Monday. The public loves a bright minstrel show, and Haverly's has been a household word for a generation. People know what to expect at the Haverly show, hence its popularity. They are sure of jests from the interlocutor, interruptions from the end men, more or less obstreperousness on the part of original funmakers, old-fashioned songs and new ones and a wide expanse of burnt cork smile. All these things are presented in this season's edition of Haverly's.

JUST COME DOWN OFF YOUR PERCH

Said Alderman to Gas Company Attorney.

The Special Investigating Committee Failed to Hold Meeting, but Alderman Key and Attorney Hammond Have Warm Discussion on Side.

"What do you want us to do?" asked T. A. Hammond, attorney for the Atlanta Gas Light Company, of Alderman Key, chairman of the gas investigating committee, yesterday morning.

"Come down off your perch," replied Alderman Key.

The special committee failed to hold a meeting because there was not a quorum present, but Alderman Key and Attorney Hammond had a very animated conversation while they were discussing the status of the investigation.

Alderman Key had intended to bring matters to a crisis yesterday morning if he had got his committee together. He had said he would take the initiatory step for municipal ownership in Atlanta, but there was no quorum, and the opening gun for municipal ownership, which Alderman Key had loaded, was not fired.

While waiting for the other members of the committee to arrive, Alderman Key sat by a window twirling his fountain pen in his hand.

"I believe there will be only one way to keep a municipal gas plant out of Atlanta," remarked the alderman to Attorney Hammond, who sat by a table. "If the gas company does not do something, the city will own its gas plant, just as sure as the sun rises in the east and sets in the west."

A Question and an Answer.

Attorney Hammond drew his chair a little nearer the alderman and asked:

"What do you want us to do? Just tell me that, Mr. Key, and may be all this alleged investigation can be cut short."

"Just come down off your perch," replied the alderman.

"The trouble is," quickly replied the attorney, "that you want to take the perch away from us."

The conversation was carried on pleasantly, but it was very spirited, and did not lack for a dash and ginger.

"You must come down off your perch," repeated the alderman. "When this thing started, you fellows hooted at the very idea of an investigation. If you will come down off your perch something might be done."

"Well, tell us what you want," said the attorney for the gas company.

"The city wants your company to make only a fair income from your investment," stated the alderman. "Then, the city wants your meters inspected by a city inspectoor who can represent the people in all controversies; and the city wants you to pay something for your franchises that will be equitable and fair."

"Put It Down in Writing."

"Why don't you put all that down in writing, and let us try and understand exactly what you are driving at," said the attorney.

"That's what I've been trying to do," replied the alderman.

The members of the committee present—Alderman Key and Councilmen Draper and Curtis—decided that a quorum could not be secured, and they adjourned to meet again next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

The city council will convene Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, but, because of the Labor day exercises, it will adjourn, without transacting any business, and meet the next day at 3 o'clock.

This will give the gas committee time to formulate a report for the meeting of council Tuesday afternoon.

RUMORED SALE TO SOUTHERN

Virginia and Southwestern Railway Is Fine Property.

Knoxville, Tenn., August 29.—A special to The Sentinel from Bristol, Tenn, says:

A well founded rumor has reached Bristol that the Southern railway has taken over or is about to secure the Virginia Southwestern railway. The price paid or to be paid for the property is not stated, but it is thought to be in the neighborhood of $10,000,000. It is known that H. K. McHarj, of New York, and Stamford, Conn., owner of the controlling stock, has asked this amount for his holdings in the road. The Virginia Southwestern has been maintained for a number of years by the Virginia Iron, Coal and Coke Company, chiefly for the purpose of affording an outlet for the products of its various coal and iron mines in east Tennessee and southwest Virginia. The road is about 140 miles in length, extending from Mountain City, Tenn., by way of Bristol to Appalachia, Va., where it has connection with the Louisville and Nashville. It has direct connection with the Southern railway at Bristol and Bluff City, Tenn., and with the Norfolk and Western at Bristol.

A "THIRTY-DAY LIMIT" BY ALDERMAN HOLLAND

"DAT man doan know nuttin 'cept thirty days," muttered an old negro as he wobbled from the police court yesterday morning, where Alderman Sid Holland was acting recorder.

It chanced that the third ward alderman had a lot of worthless negroes to try and he gave them thirty days as fast as they came up before him.

"They ought not to be at large any more than a mad dog," remarked the alderman, "and I will get them out of the way for as long as possible and will give them the limit of the law, thirty days."

Rossey Demmie, a small negro boy, had stolen a set of harness and pawned it.

"Thirty days in the stockade," said the acting recorder. "You stole harness and for thirty days we will lose all trace of you."

Gordon Griffin, another small negro, had fastened tacks all over a buggy belonging to Ernest Vittur because Mr. Vittur had made him mad.

"We will tacks you thirty days in the stockade," said the alderman, "and maybe that will make you change your tactics."

Now Has a Dozen Homes.

Jim Rogers, a negro who was found wandering about the streets at 2 o'clock at night, stated that he had a home in eleven different towns.

"Make it twelve," the acting recorder told him. "We will send you to the stockade for thirty days."

Mell Tucker, a stray negro who had no home at all, had been found on the street at 3 o'clock in the morning.

"What is Tucker without a home?" remarked the alderman. "We will give him one for thirty days."

George Bailey, a half-witted negro, who spends eleven months out of every twelve in the stockade, was before the alderman from the third on the charge of being a vagrant.

"Thirty days for George," announced the alderman. "He is better off in the stockade than on the streets."

When he reached the waiting room door, George turned around and "cussed" the acting recorder.

The alderman started to enter a fine for contempt of court, but when he was informed that the negro had been cursing the judge for twenty years, he changed his mind and said:

"I don't care to take away any of the standing prerogatives these people may have."

Tears Were of No Avail.

Mamie Smith, a negro woman, got drunk and raised both sand and Cain on Peters street Monday afternoon.

"Thirty days for Mamie," said the acting recorder.

Whereupon the remorseful Mamie began to weep.

"If you don't hush that," exclaimed the alderman from the third, "I will give you another thirty days. I ain't going to have any crying niggers around me."

Ophelia Davis was charged with being what the police call "a beer hanger." She hangs around the back doors of saloons begging for beer.

"Thirty days," said the alderman from the third. "I wish every beer hanger in the town was in the stockade."

SID SOLLAND,
Alderman from the Third Ward, Who Kept Up to the Limit the in the Police Court Yesterday.

W. M. Long, a negro ice peddler, was arraigned for going into a saloon to deliver ice and having a row with the saloon keeper. Long had tarried too long in other saloons and he was tanked up. He drew the ice tongs on the saloon man, who called for the police.

"Thirty days unless you pay a fine of $15.75," the acting recorder told him. "If I were you I would cut out my saloon customers. They have a bad effect on your nervous system."

A Suspicious Walk.

Tom Reed, a negro, came top-toeing softly from the waiting room.

"You walk like you were shooing chickens," remarked the alderman from the third.

Tom had been found sleeping in a wagon yard at 3 o'clock in the morning.

"Thirty days," the recorder told him. "You walk too much like you were after chickens to suit me."

There were some other cases in which the prisoners did not get thirty days, but they were few and far between and were chiefly for untrimmed drunks.

The last case was that of Will Shelverton, a white man who had been drunk. Shelverton said he lived at Clarkston and was dead broke.

"My wife and baby are away from home," stated the prisoner, "and if I don't hurry back there will be nobody to milk my cow, and my little pig will starve to death."

"That's terrible," replied the acting recorder. "I am going to let you off on your promise to go straight back home to that cow and pig. I don't care so much about you as I do about making that cow and pig suffer."

TROLLEY COURTMARTIAL FURNISHED A LIVE TIME; NO ONE WAS CONVICTED

The trial by courtmartial of trolley car No. 207, of the Georgia Railway and Electric Company, Motorman J. S. DeLoach, who was at the controller, and Inspector F. E. Hoffman, who it was proved was only a passenger on his way home, car, mortorman and inspector all being charged with a species of high treason, in that the car failed to give right of way to a portion of the national car of Georgia, took up the time of the police court yesterday afternoon.

The net results were the dismissal of the case against Inspector Hoffman, the reference to City Attorney Mayson of the question as to whether or not the motorman should be bound over to the superior court, and an afternoon of about the livest entertainment the court has known in some months.

Military terms and their meaning, the code of Georgia and its proper construction were among the things thrown at Acting Recorder Holland, who also joined in the fun. The whole affair arose over the collision of the trolley car with the first battalion of the Fifth regiment Monday night.

What constituted a right wheel, an oblique, squads right, marking time, semi-circles and angles took up about one hour and a half of the time of the court. Attorney Conyers, representing the Georgia Railway and Electric Company, brought the house down with uproarious laughter when he asked Captain Palmer, who happened to be in charge of the battalion at the time of the trouble: "Captain, are you sure you know what right angles means?" The laughter of the court drowned his answer.

Several Men Knocked Down.

The evidence was that the battalion was composed of four companies, namely, "A," "B," "C" and "D." Captain Palmer had just given the command of the battalion by Captain Catron when the trouble started. The march of the company was as follows: Down Hunter street to South Pryor, down South Pryor to Mitchell, counter march back to South Pryor northward towards Hunter street. The battalion was near the corner of Hunter street when the street car came to the crossing. Captain Palmer gave the command "squads right," and Company "B," in front, managed to get out of the trouble. When "A" company had about half way executed the order of "squads right" the four or five men, who it is claimed were knocked down, had their trouble. Captain Palmer, after considerable cross-questioning by Attorney Conyers, admitted that he saw four or five men knocked down. Then came up a very heated discussion as to what "squads right" signified.

Attorney Burton Smith, for the militia, called his next witness, Claude R. Yowe, second lieutenant of company "A," the damaged one. The lieutenant said that about eight of his men were on the track, and the car hit some of them. He did not know who broke up the glass in the car, as just as his eight men reached the spot, company "D," directly in the rear, came up.

Soldiers Used Bayonets.

The testimony of the motorman in this instance was that he had been going at the rate of about two or three miles, which was backed up by the witnesses for the defense, and the soldiers were all getting off the track. When the car reached the eight men their bayonets, just in some unknown manner, flew up and broke out the glass in the headlight and the wind shields.

Thomas Cheat, a private, stated he was hit on the left hip by the car. Another private, Vinning, claimed that one of his fellow soldiers knocked him under the car, and the wheel tore off his legging.

The witnesses testified they were not at "attention," and the motorman went further by saying it was more of a general crowd in no military order at all. All of this was backed up by a passenger on the car, Pelot by name, who is a member of a military organization. Councilman Sid Holland, at this point wished to join in the fun making, and asked the witness: "Do you belong to the Ku Klux?" There was a great deal of laughter, and Attorney Burton Smith made the scene more humorous by remarking that he thught the court would get into trouble by such irrelevance.

Engineer Adams, of the Kiser building, who was standing near the soda fountain at the corner of Hunter and South Pryor streets, gave his account of the affair to the court, and went on to say that the street car people gave the military sufficient time to get out of the way. He didn't see the car hit any one, but did witness the breaking of the glass by the soldiers with their bayonets.

Rights of the Militia.

A legal battle of the small order then ensued as to the rights and privileges of the militia over the street car company. Section XVI, of the acts of the legislature of the years 1884-85, came into considerable prominent during the fray. Attorney Burton Smith contended that the militia had the right of way over the street car company, since they were performing one of their regular monthly drills. Attorney Conyers came back with the thrust that the section read, "performing duty according to the law." He claimed that this phrase was inserted in the law to make its meaning clear that the state militia had the right of way when the governor ordered them under arms. Mr. Smith insisted that they were performing their duty according to the law in that they were performing the duty of drilling as required by law.

Councilman Holland ended the case by saying: "The evidence doesn't show that the car ran into the company. They could see the car, as well as the street car men could see them."

HIGH OFFICIALS VISIT ATLANTA

Southern Railway Chiefs Make Routine Inspection Tour.

As Usual, These Officials Refuse to Be Interviewed and Protested Utter Ignorance Regarding New Rate Bill and Issuing of Passes.

A number of the chief officials of the Southern railway arrived in Atlanta yesterday morning on a regular trip of inspection, and spent the day visiting the new yards, the shops and other points on the Southern railway property in and around Atlanta. During the day a trip was made to Austell, where the new work, which is being pushed forward, was carefully inspected.

All of the officials, as usual, refused to be interviewed as to matters pertaining to the interests of the public. When the provisions of the new rate bill were mentioned, some of these officials looked at each other in a puzzled way and seemed quite at a loss as to there being such an act or such a body as the interstate commission, or such unimportant incidentals as free transportation or passes. Holding to their usual custom, they also insisted that their presence in Atlanta and at other points along the Southern railway was purely and solely for the purpose of inspecting the property in the regulation routine way.

All of the officials arrived in their private cars, making up a special train. Stops were made at the new Nelson street viaduct and the sites of the new freight depot of the Southern and that of the Gate City terminal were looked over. During the day several of the Atlanta officials called on the visitors, and, according to the plans given out by one member of the party, the officials will leave Atlanta today, the direction of their journey being dependent upon circumstances.

Included in the party were General Manager H. B. Spencer, General Superintendent C. S. McManus, Superintendent of Transportation J. N. Seale, Superintendent of Telegraph C. P. Adams, Assistant General Superintendent W. N. Foreacre, Chief Engineer of Maintenance of Ways and structures D. W. Lum, Mechanical Superintendent A. Stewart, General Master Mechanic W. H. Hudson and Superintendent of Construction J. A. Dodson. General Manager T. S. Moise, of the Central of Georgia, also joined the party during the day.

A large number of railroad men attended the funeral services of the late Joseph B. Whitehead yesterday. Mr. Whitehead, as an old railroad man, had a host of friends in the Atlanta railroad world and was one of the charter members of the Transportation Club. Oscar Mitchell, of Cincinnati, the well known representative of the Big Four, came to Atlanta for the purpose of attending the services. He was a close friend of the deceased, their friendship dating back to the days when Mr. Whitehead was connected with the Queen and Crescent at Chattanooga. Mr. Whitehead's death was recognized in every part of the cinder colony with genuine and sincere regret, and many were the stories told of his generous and lovable traits.

George H. Lee, general passenger agent of the Choctaw district of the Rock Island, with headquarters at Little Rock, was among the visitors who made Atlanta his temporary home yesterday. After spending the day with District Passenger Agent S. L. Parrott, Atlanta's popular representative of the Rock Island, Mr. Lee left last night for New Orleans.

The big, annual excursion of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic from points along this rapidly growing line in south Georgia, will arrive in Atlanta today. It is expected that some 1,500 excursionists will arrive from the wiregrass section in two special trains of eleven cars each. There will be brought to Atlanta direct by the engines of the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic, the entrance to Atlanta being made over the tracks of the Central of Georgia from Oglethorpe. This excursion means much to Atlanta, especially as very many south Georgia merchants are coming to Atlanta for the purchase of goods. This annual excursion also brings very many shoppers and for the same reason is one of the most popular with the merchants of this city. According to General Freight and Passenger Agent McFadden, the Atlanta, Birmingham and Atlantic will bring the annual excursion of next year into Atlanta over its new tracks.

Nothing startling developed yesterday in regard to the interpretation of the provisions of the new rate bill on the part of railroad experts. There seemed to be almost as great a diversity of opinion regarding these interpretations yesterday as there were the day before.

Chief of the Baggage Department of the New Atlanta Terminal Station Johnston was the recipient of many congratulations from his friends on his promition yesterday. While he is now being introduced to his new duties by J. B. Heyward, who has resigned, Mr. Johnston is entirely familiar with the work, having been an experienced railroad man for many years. Mr. Heyward leaves his present position Saturady to enter the insurance field with the best wishes and assurances of success on the part of his many friends.

Tried to Kill Himself.

New York, August 29.—A man giving the name of Mason Bacon, 26 years old, and his home as Raleigh, N. C., made an attempt to commit suicide today by jumping from the Brooklyn bridge. He was prevented by two men, who jumped from a passing trolley car, and turned him over to the police. Later he was sent to the psycopathic ward in Bellevue hospital for observation.

MAN'S IDENRITY DEEP MYSTERY

Americus, Ga., August 29.—(Special.)—The remains of the mysterious stranger who died here yesterday aboard a Seaboard passenger train are yet unclaimed and unidentified. Numerous traveling men called today at the undertaking establishment, but none recognized the deceased, and unless something of his identity can be learned the body will be interred tomorrow. There is reason to believe that the man is Dr. Lincoln, from Ann Arbor, Mich., with relatives in Atlanta.

WHEN YOU WERE YOUNG

With a vigorous appetite and healthy digestion, all food tasted good and three full meals a day could hardly satisfy your hunger. Indigestion, constipation and torpid liver were things heard of, but seldom experienced. You were blessed with sweet, refreshing slumber and never worried by horrid dreams and hideous visions. But time or disregard for the laws of health have changed all this, and you need something now to assist in the digestion and assimilation of food and tone up the system. Nothing could do you more good than Daniel Mineral Water, which has no equal as a remedy for disorders of the stomach. It is especially recommended for indigestion, constipation, insomnia and nervous dyspepsia. It is a natural, not a manufactured water.

MRS. THOMPSON BACK FROM EUROPEAN TRIP

MRS. JOSEPH THOMPSON returned yesterday afternoon from a four month's trip abroad, and is at home at Brookwood, for several days, when she will return to New York for a month's visit.

Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Andrew Symonds, of Charleston, went abroad last May as the guests of Mr. James Gordon Bennett, in his superb yacht, the Lyristrata, one of the handsomest private yachts in the world.

In the party, besides the southern ladies, were Lady Maxwell, of London; the Barroness de Reuter, of Paris.

Leaving Charleston in May, they went first to the Bermudas, then in southern waters, to the Madeiras, and cruised in the Mediterranean. Later they were guests at Beaulieu, Mr. Bennett's chateau on the Riviera and at his palatial home at Versailles. They visited the Baroness de Reuter in Paris and Lady Maxwell in London, and toured through Great Britain and France in automobiles.

MISS VENABLE MARRIES MR. MASON OF NEW YORK

THE wedding of Miss Elizabeth R. Venable and Mr. Frank Tucker Mason took place yesterday afternoon, at 6 o'clock at the Venable country home, Mount Rest, Stone Mountain, and was an occasion of unusual brilliancy and picturesqueness. Rev. Orme Flinn, of the North Avenue Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by relatives and a bright assemblage of friends, a number from New York, Hartford and Atlanta. The bride's neices, Mrs. Arthur Kelogg and Mrs. Austell Thornton, were her only attendants, and the groom had as his attendants his brother, Mr. Fred Mason, who acted as best man, and Messrs. I. E. Philipp, of Winchester, Tenn., and John S. McKelvay, of New York.

Master Ronald Venablt, a nephew of the bride, was ringbearer, and immediately preceded the bride, who with her brother, Mr. Samuel H. Venable, was met by the groom and his best man at the improvised altar arranged in the sun parlor, where the ceremony was performed.

Following was an informal reception, and an elegant buffet supper was enjoyed, the guests served on the porches surrounding the house and on the lawn directly in front of it.

The decorating throughout the hospitable home were characterized by artistic taste. The guests were received on their arrival by Mrs. S. C. Venable, and Mrs. Austell Thornton. Mr. and Mrs. Mason, of New York; Mrs. Arthur Kelogg, Mrs. A. O. Venable, the group on the porch inclosed by vines showing the white blossoms of the moon flower, while between the columns were hung Japanese lanterns of varied size and color. At the far end of the porch was the punch bowl on a table laden with ferns and garden flowers.

In the broad hallway extending the length of the cottage, where presents were displayed, there were decoratins of palms, ferns and cut flowers, while the sun parlor was a bower of beauty. The entire ceiling was hung with bamboo, while above the altar where the bride and groom stood there was a shower of white flowers from amid the foliage of the bamboo. The lights of white tapers in silver candlesticks on all sides threw a soft light over all, and the scene during the wedding was charming and picturesque.

Gown of the Bride.

The bride's gown was of white chiffon cloth, fashioned a la princesse and trimmed with rose point lace. Her veil was adjusted with a wreath of miniature roses, fresh from her mother's garden, now radiant and fragrant with summer blossoms.

She carried a bouquet of bride's roses and ferns.

Mrs. Thornton wore her wedding gown of white chiffon veiled in lace, and Mrs. Kelogg was handsomely gowned in white lisse and lace.

The bride is the youngest daughter of the late Richard Venable, who was one of Atlanta's pioneer and most highly esteemed citizens, and a sister of the late William H. Venable, of Messrs. Samuel and A. D. Venable, and of Mrs. James N. Ellis. She is a blonde beauty whose loveliness of character and nature have made her the idolized center of her home circle, and one of the most popular young women in Georgia's social life. Aside from her attractive personality, she is bright and hightly cultured, having completed her education abroad.

Mr. Mason is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. William Mason, of New York, and far Rockaway, and represents a family of wealth and distinction. He is at present engaged in business on the isle of Pines, where he has a winter home, while his summer residence is at Far Rockaway, N. Y.

Mr. Mason and his bride left last night for the east and Canada, where they will remain until October 1, when they go to the Isle of Pines.

The bride's mother, Mrs. S. C. Venable, who was the center of the family group at the wedding, wore an elegant toilet in white crepe de chine and duchesse lace. Mrs. W. H. Mason, the groom's mother, was handsomely gowned in point applique lace.

Mrs. James N. Ellis wore a becoming toilet in white mull and lace. Mrs. A. O. Venable was charming in white silk and lace.

Atkinson-Hopkins.

MR. ROGER B. ATKINSON, of Virginia, and Miss Ellen Louise Hopkins, of Providence, R. I., were married at noon yesterday at the St. Philip's Cathedral by Dr. Moody. Mrs. Atkinson is a member of a very prominent family of Rhode Island, and Mr. Atkinson is well connected in Virginia.

Ramsauer-Williams.

THE marriage of Miss Mary Julia Ramsauer and Mr. Philip Clayton Williams took place yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Crusselle, 536 Spring street. The ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. R. F. Eakes, of the Methodist church, and was witnessed by relatives and friends.

During the ceremony the bride and groom stood before a bank of palms and ferns arranged in the drawing room, while on the mantel and cabinets were bowls and vases filled with ferns and white roses.

An informal reception followed the ceremony, and delicious refreshments were served.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white chiffon cloth and lace, and carried a shower bouquet of brde roses and ferns.

Immediately after the ceremany the young couple left for Virginia, where they will reside, and where Mr. Williams is a prominent and successful educator.

The bride is the elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Luther B. Ramsauer, of Atlanta, and is bright and lovable, and has unusual educational advantages having graduated with excellent record from the Peabody Normal school of Nashville, Tenn.

THE PASSING THRONG.

Colonel Snowlan S. James, of Tampa, one of the leading and progressive insurance men of the peninsular state, is in the city at the Piedmont. Colonel James is accompanied by his daughter, Miss Theresa James, who is the author of some of the most charming and entertaining short stories printed in the south in recent years.

"Ever heard that old superstition about walking under a ladder," said John Murphy, well known among the desk men of Atlanta, on the Whitehall viaduct yesterday afternoon, "That ladder leaning against the wall in front of that shoe factory over there on the walk. I've been here a half-hour solving that old story, that—see that lady? See—she skips it. Look, a man going the other way stops to give her room to pass. Just like that, it has been for the half-hour about I've been looking on."

Against the side of the shoe factory a ladder was resting. The feet were almost against the railing while the top was resting against the side of the building. For years there has been current a saw that walking under a ladder brought bad luck. To an observer of matters of that nature an opportunity only was requisite. That opportunity was given during the afternoon. With pedestrians it was either pass under that ladder or apparently squeeze between the ladder and the iron guard. More, many more, preferred the squeeze to the easy passage.

"Mamma, mamma," exclaimed a lass of 10 years, clutching a middle-aged lady by the arm, "there's a ladder. You ain't going under that, are you? You know what papa and gran'ma says about the bad luck."

"Oh, come on, little one," responded the lady. "We'll take it."

But as the lady skipped gracefully along under the ladder the lass darted back and with a merry laugh leaped between the railing and the foot of the ladder.

And as the watch grew so did the want of inclination of travelers to walk under that ladder augment.

Walter S. Dowman, of Montgomery, Ala., manager of one of the largest printing establishments of the Cotton State, is at the Kimball. Mr. Dowman came to Atlanta to revise some proofs and will be here for ten days or two weeks to come.

FREE BREAD NEXT SATURDAY.

Schlesinger-Meyer Baking Company Will Distribute Loaves Free to Atlanta's Poor.

The Schlesinger-Meyer Baking Company, which will begin delivering bread to the public after the newest and most sanitary methods known next Tuesday, has decided to christen its mammoth ovens by giving the first loaves baked to the poor of Atlanta next Saturday. Colonel Harry L. Schlesinger, whose philanthropy is as generous as his kindly smile, has stated authoritatively that all of the poor people of Atlanta who will call at the new big bakery at Nelson street and Madison avenue on Saturday will not go away empty-handed. This means that there need be no hungry person in Atlanta next Saturday or Sunday who is able to walk and reach this magnificent new plant.

More than this, any person bearing the proper credentials of any charitable society or association, will also receive this new bread for Sunday absolutely free. As for the rich people, the colonel states that they will not be able to secure any of the bread at any price. Incidentally, the public at the same time will be invited to inspect this new metropolitan plant, which has for its mission the baking of pound loaves of bread by the ten thousand, according to the most hygienic methods. Colonel Schlesinger is president; M. B. Schlesinger, secretary, and Samuel Meyer, Jr., treasurer.

THE LODGE, TALLULAH FALLS,

Will keep open until October. It is good news to the people of Georgia that The Lodge, at Tallulah Falls, will keep open until October. So many people prefer to visit Tallulah during the fall season and see it in all its beauty, when the leaves begin to take on the beautiful autumn colors, when the air is crisp and vitalizing, that Mr. J. C. S. Timberlake, the genial manager of The Lodge, has decided to keep the hotel open until October. No scenery in America surpasses the grandeur and beauty of Tallulah Falls, and at no season of the year does Tallulah appear more beautiful than in the fall. The Lodge is run in most approved style, and the fall season will be brilliant socially. Write for particulars.

Shreveport, La., August 29.—(Special.)—Atlanta and Shreveport split even in today's double-header, the first game a very ragged exhibition going to the visitors by a score of 9 to 4 while the last contest a brilliant one, was taken by the Pirates by a score of 1 to 0.

Beeker, who essayed to pitch the opening battle, was wild as a March hare and clearly out of form. During the first three innings he was tapped for eight hits, besides hitting one baseman and giving three bases on balls, netting the Advertisers nine runs.

Sidewheeler Fritz relieved Beaker in the third and put a stop to the visitors' run getting. He was a decided improvement, allowing but three scattered singles during the remainder of the game. Baxter Sparks started on the firing line for the Atlanta team, but only lasted a portion of the first inning, during which the Pirates found him for two singles, two walks and a double, which netted four runs. Hughes at this stage was sent to the rescue and held the Pirates runless during the balance of the engagement.

Winters opened the game with a single, Crozier flew out to King. Smith followed with a triple, scoring Winters. Fox also made a safe rap scoring Smith. Fox took third on Hoffman's single, the latter immediately stealing second. A passed ball scored Fox and advanced Hoffman to third. Jordan walked. Archer flew out to King, and Hoffman registered on the throw in. Four runs.

The Pirates tied the score in their half of the opening inning. Evans singled. Kennedy and Abstein walked, filling the bases. Evans and Kennedy scored on Daley's single. King then followed with a two bagger to center, scoring Abstein and Daley.

At this stage Sparks was relieved by Tom Hughes and there was nothing else doing for the Pirates.

The visitors made a runaway game of it in the third spasm, scoring five runs. Fox went safe at first on a grounder, which Abstein fumbled; took second on Hoffman's sacrifice and moved up to third when Jordan beat out an infield hit. Archer then bunted to Beeker, who allowed the ball to roll through his legs, Fox scoring on the error. Evers flew out to Kennedy. Hughes tore off a single, scoring Jordan. Winters was hit by a pitched ball filling the bases. Crozier was walked, forcing Archer across the plate. Smith beat out a low grounder to Kennedy and Hughes scored. Beeker then walked Fox, forcing Winters home. Fritz then relieved Beeker and the side was retired and no further scoring done during the game.

In the Second Game.

The second game was one of the cleanest of the season. It was clearly Hickman's victory, as the little pitching marvel had the hard hitting Georgians compmletely at his mercy, throughout. But two men reached second base which was the limit. He allowed but four scattered hits and recorded nine strike outs.

Childs started on the rubber for the visitors, pitching the first and second inning, during which he was found for three hits and the only run of the game. He was succeeded by Baxter Sparks in the third inning. Baxter displayed a complete form reversal from his efforts in first game, holding the locals down to one single. In the first inning Evans singled, but was forced at second on Kennedy's bunt to Childs. Abstein's walk and an out by Graffius advanced Kennedy to third, and a single by Daley sent him across the plate with what proved to be the winning run.

Hit Judge of Play After the Game Was Over.

Jacksonville, Fla., August 29.—Umpire Byron was assaulted tonight in the office of the Aragon hotel by players Shippy and McKernan, of the Augusta baseball team. The trouble arose over decisions rendered during the afternoon game. Shippy struck Byron a stinging blow in the face and McKernan, it is said by eye-witnesses, kicked him in the head while he was down.

President Boyer, who has headquarters here, said tonight that he would fine each of the ball players $25.

S.S.S. HEALS OLD SORES

Every old sore exists because of a polluted condition of the blood. This vital fluid is infected with some germ or old taint, or perhaps has been left in an unhealthy condition from a long spell of sickness, or the trouble may be inherited. The poisonous germs and matter with which the blood is saturated force an outlet on the face, arms, legs or other part of the body and form a sore or ulcer. This being continually fed by a polluted blood supply, grows red and angry, festers and eats into the surrounding flesh until it becomes what is very aptly termed an "old sore." The relief produced by external treatment is only temporary. The only treatment that can do any real good is a blood purifier that goes to the very root of the trouble and removes the cause, and for this purpose nothing equals S. S. S. It drives out from the circulation all morbid matter and germs, even reaching down to hereditary taints, and by cleansing the blood heals old sores permanently. S. S. S. not only removes all taints and poisons from the blood but builds it up by supplying it with the rich, health-sustaining properties it needs to keep the system in health. S. S. S. makes pure blood and a sore must heal if the blood is pure and healthy. Book on Sores and Ulcers and medical advice free. THE SWIFT SPECIFIC CO., ATLANTA, GA.

BARONS SECURE STAR PLAYERS

Bruner and Gardner Purchased from the Meridian Club.

Birmingham, Ala., August 29.—(Special.)—Phil Bruner, leading pitcher of the Cotton States League, and Curtis Gardner, outfielder for Meridian and the leader of the league with the bat, have been purchased by Birmingham. They will report next year. The price paid for the pair is not stated, but it was a good round sum.

Manager Vaughn thinks mighty well of the two recruits he has secured. While in Meridian recently he talked with President O'Neill about the players, and then advised President Baugh, of the local club, to buy them, which was done immediately.

Several other clubs were after these two players, but Birmingham acted a shade the quicker and offered a little the best price, and the two men became Barons for next year.

Bruner has a record of eighteen games won and nine lost this year, and he bats in the neighborhood of .200. Gardner, according to the last dope, was leading the league with an average of .335, and, in addition to that, he has pitched several games for Meridian and made a good showing in the box.

COTTON WEAK AND UNSETTLED

Under Continued Liquidation and Bear Pressure.

Active Months Made New Low Levels for the Season—In Late Trading Prices Recovered on Short Covering, Closing 3 to 6 Points Net Decline.

New York, August 29.—The cotton market was nervous and unsettled again, with the active months making new low levels for the season. The close was steady at a net decline of 3@6 points. Sales were estimated at 400,000 bales. The opening was barely steady at a decline of 5 to 8 points in response to lower cables and very favorable weather in the south as reflected by the early map. At first it looked as if some of the recent buyers for a reaction were inclined to oppose a decline, but prices gradually weakened and increased the loss to a matter of 11@12 points before midday with bearish sentiment encouraged by a private condition report placing the average deterioration in prospect at a little over 3 per cent. It also seemed that there was heavy selling of October and December for the account of bull leaders, and while covering was sufficiently active at the decline mentioned, to cause a rally of 3 or 4 points, the market soon yielded again to persistent pressure from local bears, and reached the low point of the session in the afternoon, when October sold at 8.54, December at 8.90, and January at 9.00, or 14@16 points net lower. This was followed by a sharp recovery during the late trading on covering of shorts, who may have been influenced by the approaching holidays. Southern spot markets were unchanged to 3-16c lower. Detailed weather reports showed rather heavy precipitation in some eastern sections, but this attracted little attention.

Receipts at the ports today 11,306 bales, against 8,514 last week, and 14,053 last year. For the week 89,000, against 49,414 last week, and 89,620 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans 831 bales, against 882 last year, and at Houston 2,793 bales, against 4,635 last year.

New Orleans Cotton Market.

New Orleans, August 29.—Spot cotton closed easy. Total sales were 90 bales, with 200 to arrive. Futures opened barely steady 6 to 8 points lower, but little apparent effort was made to sustain prices and new low levels resulted. Later, however, bull support ran prices above opening figures. The market closed steady, 4 to 8 points under Tuesday's close.

The Dry Goods Market.

New York, August 29.—The dry goods jobbing trade is very large and jobbers are troubled only by the inability to get goods. The scarcity in ginghams, bleached goods and hosiery is particularly notable. Printed goods are selling in larger volume. Silks, except for special patterns, like checks, are slow. Dress goods in cotton and woolen are active. Concessions on forward deliveries of 8-ounce ducks and 7-ounce osnaburgs are the principal price changes.

Liverpool Grain Market.

Liverpool, August 29, 12:30 p. m.—Cotton spots easier; demand poor at 15 points decline; middling upland 5.40; sales 4,000 bales; speculation and export 400; receipts 1,000, of which 800 American.

Futures opened easy.

Ware & Leland.

New York, August 29.—COTTON—An effort to hedge some of the cotton bought here for an advance broke the Liverpool market sharply this morning and October sold within a point of the low price of the season. Weakness abroad led to general selling and bear hammering in the local market and it soon became evident that there was not enough support to prevent December running through 9c to 8.94, which represented a decline of 30 points from yesterday's high level. There was the usual short covering on the break and the market rallied 5 or 6 points only to have trading become dull, and later on prices slipped off again. There was a general feeling that heaviness in October and the fact that prices all along the line reached a new level on this decline, all furnished evidences of a sagging tendency of the market as a standing proposition, that tendency being interrupted from time to time by perfectly normal and healthy reactions. Reports from the south indicate one of the largest, if not the largest, crop ever gathered, and as long as such reports continue there will be little upon which to base arguments for the purchase of cotton. This is the marketing season, which in itself means pressure. Efforts to advance prices have met repeated failure. The reason for it is the enormous amount of cotton for sale on any advance.

Chicago, August 29.—WHEAT—The trade in wheat today, while small, has shown rather a firm undertone, many large lines of the September kind having been transferred into December for the holders feel sanguine as to higher prices, believing that foreigners will soon come in as buyers and that the returns from the northwest fields will be a disappointment. The general news has helped values. Higher cable receipts in the northwest show a marked falling off, and Minneapolis stocks decreasing 925,000 in four days, and Broomhall cables state: "A steady reduction in Argentina and Australian shipments, which may cause a better demand for our wheat. In anticipation of an early advance in freight rates, it is reported there has been large takings of our wheat for shipment east. Market for time being appears to us as being but a scalping one with a tendency to lower values."

CORN—Shows considerable strength, especially the September kind, which has been bought by cash houses. Low rates to gulf will probably divert some corn from Chicago to east, and this is probably the principal cause of strength, as our stocks here are light and receipts continue small. Reports from corn fields are rather at variance, some good and others to the contrary. No notice has been taken at frost reports from the west thus far. Recent years have found but little corn grading here in December, and with this in view it would seem that the nearby option will soon be in demand and class the May kind.

OATS—Opened easier but soon rallied on better cash demand and light receipts. Considerable changing into the May kind is possible on large deliveries September 1, although we notice the more conservative are nervous over this. Speculatively the demand is for May Oats, but some of our more prominent local operators are very bearish and predict lower prices.

PROVISIONS—The continued large receipts of hogs has had quite a depressing effect on provisions and considerable product has come on the market. September liquidation has been going on for some time and it looks as though the packers were getting out of some of their September holdings. Trade is largely in changing over and very little new trade.

New York, August 29.—STOCKS—The stock market rallied today from the depression of Philadelphia troubles yesterday, under the leadership of Harriman Pacifics and buying of Amalgamated, which stocks we think are purchases on all declines. The remainder of the stock market, however, meets some stock on the recoveries at present, and we are inclined to advocate still the neutral position with a close observance of the individual positions, with mind alert for specialty operations. These specialty operations are not prohibited by the money market, which prevents a broad bull campaign just now, and we are constrained to recommend the adhering to technique for a guide, information being too unanimously bullish to be right in all cases. Conservative action will give the best results.

TRADE IN WHEAT WAS VERY QUIET

Market Inclined to Weakness on Favorable Weather.

News to Arouse Interest Was Scarce and Trading Consisted in Changes From September Option to the More Distant Deliveries—Close Was Easy.

Chicago, Augusht 29.—Weather again today was the dominating feature of the wheat market and caused weakness on the local exchange. At the close wheat for December delivery was down 1-8@1-4c. Corn was practically unchanged. Oats were up 1-4c. Provisions were unchanged to 5 cents higher.

Trading in the wheat pit was very quiet, and the market was inclined to be weak all day. There was little in the way of news to arouse interest in the market and the greater part of the trading consisted of changes from the September option to the more distant deliveries. Weather conditions in the northeast were generally favorable for harvesting, and this fact coupled with an almost total absence of export demand accounted for the bearish feeling that prevailed during the larger part of the day. Primary receipts were small in comparision with the corresponding day of last year but this did not seem to cause any demand. The market closed easy. December opened unchanged to 1-8c lower at 74 1-8@74 1-4c, sold between 74 and 74 1-2c and closed at 74@74 1-8c. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 294,000 bushels. Primary receipts were 487,000 bushels against 790,000 last year. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 155 cars against 161 cars last week and 285 cars one year ago.

The feature of the corn market was a lively demand for the September option by shorts and cash houses. On account of this demand, the price of the September option advanced 3-4c. The entire list was made stronger by the firmness of September. The close was steady. December opened at 44 to 44@1-2c, unchanged, to a shade lower, sold off to 43 7-8@44c and then advanced to 44 1-4c. Final quotations were at 44c. Local receipts were 170 cars with 99 contract grade.

Despite liberal primary receipts the oats market was inclined to firmness on a fair demand by cash houses. The volume of trading, however, was small. December opened a shade higher at 30 5-8c, sold between, 30 1-2@30 5-8 and 30 7-8@ 31c and closed at 30 3-4c; local receipts were 166 cars.

Provisions were a trifle lower early in the day, but later all of the loss was recovered. The early weakness was due to liberal receipts of hogs here and at other western packing centers. Buying by pit traders was responsible for the upturn later in the day. At the close September pork was unchanged at $17.00. Lard unchanged at $8.67 1-2. Ribs were 5c higher at $8.70.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow: Wheat, 62; corn, 127 cars; oats, 186; hogs, 16,000 head. The board of trade will be closed Monday, September 30.

New York, August 29.—COTTON—Bearish sentiment ruled uninterruptedly in the cotton market today. Professionals were undoubtedly on the bear side and low price levels were predicted all around. Some of the predictions were extravagant in the opinion of the conservative traders who figured that the recent declines discount much bearish developments. However "8-cent cotton" continues as the cry of the bear forces, and the unanimous opinion in this connection among professionals served to reduce the confidence of those who were willing to buy for a turn. At the moment there is much uncertainty. There is some nervousness over the market position of the Price interests. The government report is due next week and directly on top of this a January report is looked for. These "official" statistics are likely to have a substandial bearing on the general speculative situation, and naturally many shorts are willing to reduce their commitments, while not a few longs who have thus far withstood the bearish assaults are satisfied to pocket losses. It would seem that the general trend of prices during the balance of the week will depend largely on bow buying and selling orders of professionals are maintained. The greatest orders of professionals are maintained. The greatest crowd is on the bear side apparently, but it often happens that the minority are treated to the greater fortune.

STOCK MARKET OPENED HIGHER

Sharp Advance in Canadian Pacific Was Early Feature.

Bull Speculators Had Market Well in Hand, Buying Orders Were Large. Advance in Call Money Had No Effect on Upward Tendency. Close Generally Strong.

New York, August 29.—In the face of further adverse conditions, such as the Philadelphia failure and heavier drains on local financial resources, it must be said that today's stock market for the greater part of the session exhibited an unexpectedly strong undertone. The ease with which early offerings were taken bespoke support of an unusually strong character, but served to heighten the impression that the so-called big interests have a great deal of stock to market. Pennsylvania scored an initial gain, but Reading, which was under pressure, made a decline. Other conspicuous features of the opening were St. Paul and Canadian Pacific, the former selling with its dividend and "rights" off, and showing a gain of almost 3 points. Canadian Pacific continued its activity of the previous day, soon advancing to 179, a 6 point gain, but for more or less patent reasons the rise attracted little attention. The Hill stocks were very strong, presumably on the publication of an unconfirmed report that the ore deal with the United States Steel Corporation had been formally ratified. Great Northern preferred advanced to the highest price of the present movement and Northern Pacific was materially stronger. The steel issues naturally reflected the strength of these stocks, though in lesser degree. The market quieted before the end of the first hour, but not before another drive against Reading sent that stock lower than before. Recovery was soon made under the lead of Union Pacific, which advanced to the highest price of the week, the movement being again accompanied by the now familiar St. Paul story. By noon trading became comparatively dull, with Atchison's new high record the most noteworthy feature. The late afternon developed no marked tendency either way until the last hour, when call loans advanced to 6 per cent, with a further weakening in exchange to 4.8370. This latter was one of the most significant features of the day and gave rise to fresh rumors of gold imports. Considerable sums were loaned on a 6¾ per cent basis for 90 days. Despite the rise in money, the market gathered renewed energy in the final trading, the feature being Reading, which advanced over 5 points from the low, while Pennsylvania moved up smartly and the remainder of the active group gained a point or more. Trading was very active at te close, which was strong and generally at the best prices of the day.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $3,485,000.

United States bonds were all unchanged on call.

Money on call strong, 4½@6 per cent; ruling rate 4¾; closing bid 5½; offered at 6 per cent. Time loans steady; 60 days 6@6½ per cent; 90 days 6@6½; six months 6 bid.

Prime mercantile paper 6 per cent. Sterling exchange very weak at 4.8370@4.8375 for demand and at 4.8065 for 60-day bills. Posted rates 4.82@4.85. Commercial bills 4.80¼@4.80⅝.

Bar silver 66⅝.

Mexican dollars 51¼.

Government bonds steady.

Railroad bonds irregular.

Edmund & Charles Randolph.

Atlanta, August 29.—COTTON—Early Liverpool advices were less favorable than expected, resulting in a decline in our market of 5 to 6 points on the opening, which was increased 10 points more as the session progressed, putting prices 4 to 8 points lower than at any time recently. Covering set in on this decline, which rallied about 12 points from the bottom, the market closing steady 3 to 4 points under the previous close. Liverpool is due to come 3 points higher in the morning to meet our close. Spots at New York marked down 10 points and 1-16c off at New Orleans. New York bears are talking still lower prices. prices. Weather reports indicated rather general rains for the Savannah district. Southern spot markets outside of New Orleans unchanged to 3-16c lower. Telegraphic inquiries to Texas friends, located at various points in the territory from which calamity howling has emanated, elicits the information that while deterioration has undoubtedly occurred, it started from a condition of unparalleled excellence, and that the existing outlook is still for a large yield. Strangely enough, the interior appears willing sellers on advances, and if we accept their operations in short crop years as indicative of prospective developments, it is but fair to assume that their present attitude at this time is very significant. Under the existing method of conducting business, the larger European firms employ representatives in every important cotton center, who are required to furnish unbiased reports on crop conditions, and we take it that these reports are reflected in the indifference of spinners who certainly display unusual indifference, even at the relatively cheap prices now prevailing. At this period, frequent weather changes are not unlikely, in view of which it will perhaps be found prudent to secure satisfactory profits on short cotton as they appear, but unless a protracted wet spell is experienced, or the date of killing frost is abnormally early, we feel reasonably certain that the marketing of a supply in excess of the world's requirements will only be accomplished at the further expense of values, and that sales are in order on all rallies until, at least, we get nearer our equinoxial period, which is from the 16th to, say, the 23d of September, some years earlier, some later. As I have pointed out in the past, there is almost an unbroken record of advances at this period for ten years, caused from the severity of storms, etc., and damages incident thereto, if in no other way in the quality of the staple, stains, etc. These advances have ranged from 30 to 150 points. Therefore, I would not want to be caught short of cotton during this period.

Gibert & Clay.

New Orleans, August 29.—COTTON—The sentiment abroad was in marked contrast to that lately prevailing and under the influence of favorable reports as to the crop's progress options declined steadily, finally closing barely steady at a loss over the previous day's level of from 13 to 14 points. Spot quotations were reduced 15 points, sales 4,000. The liberal response by Liverpool to the decline in the American markets yesterday and an ideal weather map were responsible for the loss in values on the opening. A further decline was occasioned through the liquidation of a small long interest, bought in anticipation of a reaction, aided by activity on the part of the bears. In fact about the only support furnished the market was through the medium of shorts covering. If a large short interest menaced the market it would appear logical, in the natural course of events, to expect a somewhat material reaction from present prices pending the government's report in the early part of next month, but the short interest, if existing in volume, manifests little or no uneasiness, hence the opinion generally prevails that, with favorable circumstances, market prices will gradually drift to lower levels. And traders anticipate that the annual report of our exchange, which will probably be available upon the opening of business September 4, will in the figures of supplies constitute another incentive for selling.

New York, August 29.—STOCKS—Except in certain highly speculative issues, like Copper and Reading, the tone of the market showed much improvement during the early trading today, and with the development of a better feeling and some excellent support to certain stocks the market gradually hardened and advanced quite freely during the early afternoon. The effect of the Philadelphia incident appeared to wear off, and while the banks have lost rather heavily since Friday through subtreasury operations (about $3,000,000 at this writing), the monetary situation is not giving much concern. Call money rates are rather steady around 5 per cent, but time money strong at 6 per cent with a broker's loan, which makes the rate about 7 per cent. The financial situation for week promises to show no easier tendency to money rates and the bank statement is confronted with a loss through subtreasury operations of importance. The market has had good liquidation growing out of the Philadelphia affair, in part, and perhaps from other causes, but we expect no important price movement until after Labor day or until several belated announcements shall have been in some form made public.

Southern Exchange.

New York, August 29.—COTTON—Improved weather conditions and rather depressed cables produced a further decline in our market here today. Selling was mostly in the form of liquidation, large interests appeared to be aggressive in their offerings. Southern ware houses were fairly good buyers and acted as about the only support to the market. The weather was generally clear over the western belt with forecast of warmer and clearer weather for tonight and tomorrow. The forecast for Georgia and the Carolinas is for showers tonight and tomorrow, with fair weather for Mississippi and Alabama. Traders appear to be awaiting the result of notice day for September cotton Friday morning. Developments from this influence may produce a better sentiment and justify a quick advance. September notices have not been heavy, and we do not look for more than a temporary effect from this development. Indications point toward a very narrow price movement for the immediate future but after such a general decline it is quite natural to anticipate some steadiness pending further developments.

STOCKS—The security list assumed a more cheerful feeling this morning, and transactions were at generally higher figures for about the entire list. St. Paul sold ex-dividend and ex-rights equal to approximately $20 per share, this stock was active and with northern Pacific, Union Pacific, Canadian Pacific and Louisville and Nashville, led the standard stock and gave the list a good undertone. The Coppers, Coalers and Grangers were in favor, and appeared to be well taken. Room traders made a drive on Reading during the early part of the session, but this was really overcome, and the stock held steady during the rest of the session at slightly above last night's close. Commission houses were rather heavy sellers, which is evidence that the public are in the market on a fairly large cale. Reports on the Real Estate Trust Company failure in Philadelphia are full, and in some quarters it is said they will open for business within the next forty-eight hours. Strength of Steel issues is significant; we look for much better prices for these issues, especially the common stock. Ontario and Western strong, relations between this road and New Haven are such as to justify higher figures for Ontario and Western. The stock market may have temporary reactions, but a gradual higher range of values apears to be about all that can be looked for.

Coffee futures opened steady at an advance of 5@10 points on rather better European cables than expected, and covering by some of the recent sellers. FORREST & GEORGE ADAIR.

THE word "loose" in connection with accounting carries a sinister suggestion that is as unfortunate as it is unreal, and if the term was not so well established by usage, we would change it, for a properly devised loose-leaf system is the antithesis of all that makes for inaccuracy, lost motion, or waste of any kind. It is a money-saver, a time-saver, and a labor-saver. Foote & Davies Co., Loose-leaf Department, 63 E. Alabama Street, Atlanta, Georgia.
